はじめに

　魔物とは本来　魔々な姿を持つ異形の怪物たちであったが　魔王の世代交代により新しく魔王となったサキュバス族の影響か　近年では人間の女性の姿に近いものばかりとなり　性別もメスしか確認されていない

　魔物たちのほとんどが人間との生殖活動により子をつくる
そのため魔物たちはつねに人間の男性を狙っており　危険である　魔物の種類によっては女性も被害をうける事があるため安心は出来ない

魔物に魅入られた男性が戻ってくる事は少なく　魔物と人間の間に産まれる子供は必ず魔物になるため　人間の減少が非常に危ぶまれている

　この本はそんな魔物たちの性質や情報を調べ　まとめたものであり この本を読む貴方には魔物たちについての知識をしっかりと身につけ
自分の身や他者を守っていただきたい

PS 王宮の命によりこの書物は持ち出し禁止とする
国民が自衛を怠らぬよう　国民に対しては魔物に連れ去られた人間は殺されるとし　この書物の情報を流出させる事も硬く禁ずる

王宮魔物対策本部

Introduction

Mamono were originally strange-looking monsters in a variety of shapes But under the influence of the new demon lord from the succubus clan in recent years they have all shapes similar to human females and only female mamono have been spotted

Almost all mamono make babies through reproduction with humans For this reason mamono are always seeking human males and are dangerous Human females must also be on guard since some mamono will harm females

There are few men who have come back after being charmed by a mamono The child of a mamono is always a mamono so there is an extreme fear of a decline in human populations

This book is a summary of the qualities of and information about mamono I hope that you the reader will thoroughly study this knowledge of the mamono and protect yourself and others

P.S. By order of the Palace, it is forbidden to publicly carry this book. In order that the citizens do not slacken in their self-defense all citizens taken away by mamono will be killed Disseminating the information in this book is strictly forbidden*

The Palace Mamono Task Force Headquarters

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp　(C)クロビネガ

オチンチンげんきです

Succubus Family - Demon Type

アリス Alice

- Habitat .... Unknown
- Disposition .... Meek
- Diet .... Men's Spiritual Energy

A type of succubus that has the form of a very young girl. They're a race that arose from sudden mutation, so there are very few of them in existence. It is extremely rare to encounter one. While they are succubus type monsters, their bodies are always in a "virginal" state. They have almost no knowledge about sex, and they aren't even aware that men's spiritual energy is what they feed on. For that reason, even though they are a kind of succubus, they never attack humans. Their disposition is that of a very young human girl, or one even more pure, and more meek.

Guided by the instinct of the succubi, they appear and seek out men. As written above, they don't attack men. They act sweet just like children, and they just want to play together, but their bodies emit a subtle charm magic. Men who spend a lot of time around them end up sexually assaulting them. They probably get their energy through such intercourse. What is unique about this is, just after having sex with a man, their body returns to a "virginal" state. They also lose all the memories of what happened. However, as they continue to have sex, their bodies grow more and more sensitive to pleasure. They store up magical energy from the energy they get from men. This is what causes their sexual techniques and charm magic to improve. They grow into more powerful succubi while eternally remaining as pure and innocent girls.

One other thing. As was the case with the original type of succubus (for details reference the succubus page), men who continue to copulate with them end up turning into "incubi." Unlike the succubus, she won't capture her man, or take him off to the demon realm. However, men who become incubi are already obsessed with them. Protecting them, and giving them energy will become their most important tasks.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

• Succubus Family • Demon Type

アルプ Alp

Habitat..... Unclear
Disposition... Varied (also lustful)
Diet..... Spirit energy of human men

A peculiar kind of succubus unlike any other kind of monster. Male incubi who suddenly transformed into female monsters. Since men ordinarily have spirit energy production capability, even when they're infused with demonic energy, they don't turn into monsters. Though the incubi are often treated as monsters when it comes down to it, they are merely humans warped by demonic energy. However, when an incubus strongly desires to become a woman...or be with men from the bottom of his heart, he ends up unconsciously using the demonic energy he took in upon becoming an incubus to destroy his spirit energy production function. As a result, no longer able to produce spirit energy, they lose all spirit energy, and only demonic energy ends up stored in their body. They end up transforming into the female alp monsters.

Even after becoming alps, their hearts, values, memories, and personalities...everything other than their bodies, is still the same from when they were men. The r body has completely changed into that of a woman, yet they self identify as men. They may not even be consciously aware of their desire to become a woman which changed them into an alp, or they may have been in denial, with the truth hidden away deep within the heart. Because of that, they are shocked by the radical physical change, and there's a huge gap between it and their male hearts, which probably makes them feel bewildered. For that reason, most of them feel resistant to having relations with human men as monsters.

However, once the monster's instinct starts to take root, their bodies and hearts are naturally drawn to human men, and they'll start to desire intercourse. Eventually they'll become unable to stand it, assaulting and copulating with a human man while in a state of confusion torn between the desire and resistance in their heart.

And then, after getting a taste of a woman's pleasure, and the sweet taste of spirit energy, they experience a powerful rush far beyond anything a human men could experience.

They become a prisoner of the ecstasy of sex with men, and the sweet taste of men's spirit energy after first tasting it. It probably disturbs their male hearts which haven't completely become a monster's. After repeatedly having sex like this, the desire to seek men becomes even stronger. Eventually, even with their self awareness as men almost completely unchanged, they completely lose all resistance to having sex with men. They seek sex just as if inviting a friend to play, and start to enjoy the ecstasy and taste of spirit energy.

Also, through this process, there are alps who awaken to the joy of becoming a woman, and in that case, their body rapidly becomes more voluptuous in order to seduce men. Their heart also changes into that of a woman. They become completely lascivious alps who are more feminine than a woman, and more lustful than a succubus.

ALRAUNE

Alraune family Plant type

Habitat	Forests, jungles, etc.
Disposition	Lustful, voluptuous
Diet	Grows using sunlight and nutrients from the soils; the flower part seeks the semen of human men

A plant type race that is mostly found deep in forests and jungles. They emit a sweet smell that attracts passing men. Those that approach are trapped and raped so that their semen can be absorbed as food.

An alraune's saliva and sexual fluids are called "Alraune nectar" and contain a powerful aphrodisiac. Captured men are force-fed the nectar via mouth to mouth. The liquid is prized by other monsters, and alraune intermittently come under attack from honeybees and others seeking the nectar.

An alraune's flower has enough space to admit a single human. While most men will simply be used to the point of exhaustion and then discarded, sometimes an alraune will desire a more permanent bond with an especially desirable man. If so, while they are joined at the hip, the petals will close around them. This act is ironically called "taming the alraune," and once the flower closes, there is no way for the man to escape or even to withdraw his genitals. Sustained by the alraune's nectar, he will spend the rest of his life in sexual service to his new wife.

Amazoness

Succubus Family   Demon Type

Habitat.......... Forest
Disposition...... Strong-willed , lustful
Food................Human semen

A type of succubi who live by making individual villages, deep within forests.They were originally an all female tribe called "Amazoness." When the new demon lord came to power, there was an invasion by succubi. Almost all of the tribe's women were transformed into succubi, and now they're mostly treated as a kind of monster. Almost all of them are raised to be warriors from early childhood. They possess an excellent physique, and unsurpassed fighting prowess. Their society is matriarchal. Their views are exactly the opposite of most people's. Women are the ones who take up arms and fight, becoming warriors. They protect men and the younger warriors, who are regarded as frail and weak. Men only exist to look after their homes while they're away, or provide semen for them when they come back from war, or the hunt.

They periodically attack human settlements when they go "man hunting" This is their way of finding a husband. Once they've taken a liking to a man, they will kidnap him and bring him back to their village as a husband. An Amazoness who has succeeded at getting a man in this way will be regarded as an adult, regardless of her actual age, and be treated as an elite warrior. If a human were to wander into their village, if it were a man, the immature Amazonesses would stage a "man hunt" on the spot; if it were a woman, they would capture her and do the same thing as a succubus. After transferring demonic power into her through sexual relations and converting her into a succubus, they would begin training her as a warrior. Furthermore, if a man and woman happened to wander into the village together, the woman would be considered as having already succeeded in capturing a man. She would be very much welcomed as a superior warrior candidate, and be given very thorough warrior training.

They have a peculiar set of values, and prefer to have intercourse in the presence of others. They like to show off when they violate their husbands, to reveal their strength to other Amazonesses, and to assert their claims of ownership over their men

Angel

Succubus Family (Formerly "Angel") Angel Type

Habitat........Heaven
Disposition..Devoted
Diet............Human Semen

Servants of the god worshiped at churches, possessing beautiful white wings. They dwell in heaven. On very rare occasions they are sent out to human settlements as the messengers of God. Other than that, they are sent to accompany church expeditions sent out to slay monsters. They are very merciful and compassionate, having a strong fundamental distaste for fighting, but they will loyally uphold the teachings of God. To that end, they are very abstemious, and they frown upon the passions of humans and monsters. In fact, they will mete out punishment in the name of God for any perceived infractions.

They were not demons to begin with, but after being warped by the demonic power of the succubi, they came to desire men. Thus, they are treated as monsters. From birth, angels have divine protection, because of this, they have a high resistance to the demonic power of the succubi such that they are never fully transformed. Normally they don't grow the kinds of horns and tails that are typically found in succubi. But mentally they've been violated and twisted by the power. They approve the passions of hnmans and monsters, as though they have completely forgotten the teachings of God. They have the sneccubus' instinct to seek out men, so they begin to frequently visit hnman settlements.

The original role of the angels was to reward people for their good deeds by giving them happiness. However, npon receiving the power of the succubi, they were strongly imprinted with the notion that sexual pleasure itself brings about true happiness in men. In order to make the men they like happy, they assault them and have sexual intercourse. Once they've targeted a man they act extremely devoted, but their sex acts are all the same as the other monsters.Half of the interactions are one sided, and mostly forced.

They're not aware of having any sexual desire of their own. They firmly believe that their sole purpose is to please men, and this is the driving force behind their behavior. Once they've finally become aware of their own personal desire for pleasure, they are completely transformed into succubi known as "dark angels."

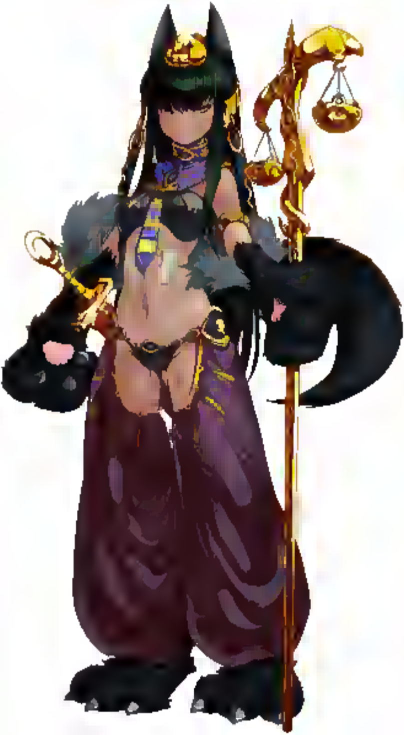
Ant Arachne

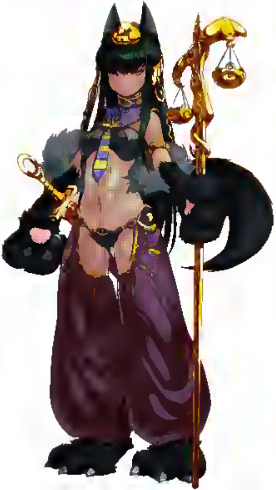
Arachne Family, Insect Type

Habitat .... Caves, Plains, Forests, ect., underground
Disposition ...... Lustful, Strong-willed
Diet .... Remains of dead animals, husks, ect.

A small insect type monster of the Arachne family. It bears a remarkably close resemblance to the "Giant Ant." This mimicry serves to fool the giant ants into thinking the "Ant Arachne" is one of their own kind. The arachne take advantage of this by mixing in with giant ant groups and moving into their nests. Despite their resemblance to the giant ants, their disposition is very different, being quite ferocious in nature. Exposure to all the pheromones present in giant ant nests also makes them highly aroused and extremely lustful.

They essentially never leave the giant ant's nest, and so it is extremely rare to encounter one above ground. When giant ants bring men back into their nests (reference the "Giant Ant" page), they steal some of the men to take back to their own beds. Unlike the giant ants, they do not work during the day. Instead, after seizing a man, they copulate with him in their bed place all day and night long.





Anubis

Wolf Family Beastman Type

Habitat .... Ruins of Desert Regions
Disposition ... Honest, Stubborn
Diet .... Omnivorous, prefers meat

A type of wolf that lives in desert regions. As the manager of mummies, it inhabits desert regions and also serves as a soldier protecting the "Pharaoh." It has high intelligence, and the power of many curses at it's disposal. It has an intellectual and very honest personality, which is rare among the wolf family.

When she finds intruders in the ruins, she attacks, and tries to capture them. In the case that she captures a man she likes, she takes him back to her home as a husband. It's her peculiar trait to exercise total control over the man who becomes her husband, down to choosing his diet, planning his daily schedule, and even sex. It's just like the relationship between a boss and a subordinate. She frequently gives orders. If he doesn't obey, he will be punished for "penal violations" by being afflicted with the "mummy curse," which changes his body to be extremely sensitive to pleasure like that of a mummy. In which case, he'll probably continue having sex with her until he passes out.

Again, even if it's a female intruder, she will be afflicted with the above mentioned "mummy curse." In the case of a woman, the effects of the curse are not temporary as they are with men. Instead, those afflicted with the curse are changed into mummies and placed under Anubis' command.

They ordinarily remain calm, but they're extremely weak when something unexpected happens. If things don't turn out the way they thought they should, they end up getting confused. If a man takes the initiative and assaults one of them, she will probably be thrown into confusion and end up going into heat and acting out to seak pleasure according to the instincts of the wolf family.

ARACHNE

Arachne family Insect type

Habitat ...... Caves, deep forests
Disposition ... Strong willed, fiendish, lustful
Diet ...... Wild animal meat

A monster with the torso of a woman and the lower body of a spider. They are very intelligent, however their intense lust is even greater. Due to their hostility and immense physical capabilities, they are considered extremely dangerous.

From their bodies, they're capable of producing sticky thread, which they use to create a network of webs. These webs often serve as traps used to ensnare prey. Animals and humans who touch them unawares will be trapped by the strong, sticky fibers and be unable to escape. Catching food is the primary purpose of course, but the webs are used to catch things for personal use as well. If a human man happens to wander into her trap she will begin to forcibly have sex with him in order to reproduce. Being that she is very sexually active, if the man is unable to keep up with her or if she takes a liking to him, she may restrain him inside her nest so that they can continue later.

Furthermore, as for what Arachnes fancy, in addition to thread they also have a soft spot for the fiery tempered. In case of being caught by an Arachne, not resisting is the best course of action. For some reason, if the man she catches is able to struggle and resist, she will be pleased with him and fall in love, which brings down any change of being released nicely.

Even more surprisingly, they take pride in their sewing, giving clothes to men they've taken a liking to. However, the significance here is that this is how they propose to their love interests. If he accepts her gift, she will keep him there for good, regardless of whether he likes it or not.

• Imp Family • Demon Type

アークインプ Arch Imp

Habitat ___ Demon Realm
Disposition ___ Simple, selfish
Diet ___ Spirit energy of human men

A mutational variant of imp possessing vast demonic energy in her tiny body. Besides imps who mutated after storing up demonic energy due to frequent sex, there are those who were born as arch-imps due to having powerful sorcerers or heroes as fathers. Their appearance is exactly the same as an imp, but the coloring of their wings and tail are paler, and some of their hair is dyed white. It's a distinguishing trait that can be seen in the demon lord and her daughters. It's regarded as an expression that they possess lots of the demon lord's demonic energy, and are closer to her than even among her own kin, the Inma(1). As inma, they possess vastly greater power than higher rank demons such as succubus-ect. They wield powerful charm spells and have excellent sexual techniques. However, they're only around as intelligent as the normal imp, so they're childish and simple, and they assault human men whenever the desire should arise. Additionally, many of them don't even realize that they're arch-imps, and live among groups of imps.

Men afflicted with their charm spells start to find them unbearably cute, so cute that they want to spoil them. In that state, the men can hardly refuse when they "beg" for indecent acts, and most end up having sex with them just the way they want. In actuality, these charm spells are released unconsciously whenever they tempt a man, so they aren't aware that they're using magic themselves, and to them, "a nice man who will listen to whatever they ask, and do lots of stuff that feels good" is extremely attractive. They'll probably end up liking him in no time at all. The things they beg for from men they like, end up becoming increasingly lewd. By having sex with one of the highest ranked inma, a countless number of times, men will end up becoming their prisoners from the bottom of their hearts.

Furthermore, imps are often used as sorcerers' familiars, but when a sorcerer summons an imp, an arch-imp may rarely appear. If he thinks it's an imp, and binds a master-servant contract, then at that point in time, a master-servant reversal will occur, and conversely, the sorcerer will end up becoming her familiar.

Due to their enormous demonic energy, arch-imps have the power to change human women into monsters that normal imps do not possess. Since they're childish, they prefer playing with human children. If their partner is a girl, they teach them lots of the kind of pleasurable play that they personally love, and turn them into "imps" so that they can get off more when they play. If a single one of them slips into a human settlement, a moment later there will probably be a group of imps.

(1) Inma (淫魔): This is the Japanese word for succubus. However, the succubus race in Kenkou's universe is specifically referred to as "sakyubasu" (Katakana, English of "succubus"). Thus, it may seem strange that "imps" seem to be classified as "inma" but not "succubus".

Baphomet

Baphomet Family Demon-beast Type

Hebital ..... Demon Realm
Disposition ... Strong Willed
Diet. . . . . Omnivorous mainly preferring the flesh of beasts Also men s spirit energy

A type of demon-beast that lurks in the demon realm Their outward appearance is that of a little girl but of all the monsters they possess the most physical power They are the race that serves as the leaders of the pegan cult "Sabbath" commanding a countless number of witches Also it is said that one of them is the supreme leader of the demon lord's army and they are feared by humans and monsters alike

The "Sabbath" they lead has the following creeds. "know the depravity and charm of little girls," and "give in to pleasure like a monster." In order to spread the doctrine and increase the number of adherents, they tempt women with promises of "great magic power" and "eternal youth." They change them into witches by granting them a portion of their own magical power. Other races of monsters who join the faith have their bodies changed into those of little girls through the baphomet's power as well and after that they never grow any older. Also, periodically their subordinates the witches and their familiars (reference witch's page) have a gathering called black mass (reference the witch a page) where they have a feast of pleasure to reconfirm sabbath's doctrine

Most of them live in the demon realm so they are hardly ever seen but on rare occasions they are also seen at places outside the demon realm If you ever meet one of them never assume you can defeat her With ordinary power one could hardly put up a struggle and would just end up screwing himself over On top of that you'd be attacked and probably have the "depravity and charm of little girls" thoroughly trained into your body

Because they also seek superior men as their husbands in the same way as other upper rank monsters most men they catch will be released but many of the men assaulted by them actually come to adore the baphomets and they will run off someplace with her and the witches and disappear In most cases baphomets will accept as a husband a man with enough power to defeat them. It is said that they seek "an ideally strong and gentle big brother who is reliable and will shower them with love and attention," but the truth is uncertain

BEELZEBUB

Fly family	Insect type
Habitat	Demon realm
Disposition	Violent, selfish lustful
Diet	Omnivorous would eat almost anything have a liking for human fluids

Monsters who are better known as "The King Of Flies" Despite their small size they have tremendous amounts of magic and are capable of flying at high speeds with their wings

They crave for food and sex all the time, and would eat anything on their sights and assault human males the same way too Once caught she will force males into having ejaculating over and over again until she is satisfied

If she had her eyes set on you she will fly around you at all times and snatch away your food Then depending on her mood she might mate with you And as mentioned they are capable of flying at high speeds and thus it is a difficult task to capture or run away from them. Also they consume anything and have a peculiar liking for a human s body fluids especially sperm So please take caution if you do not have any food to distract them should you be targetted

They live solely on their instincts and would eat or attack human males whenever they feel like doing so They would also force their victim s mouth shut when having sex with him to prevent anyone from hearing his screams

Finally they like the smell of rotting leftover food and human sweat so please ensure that you uphold a tidy clean lifestyle if you do not wish to be visited by one of them

BLACK HARPY

Harpy family   Bird-human type

Habitat	Grasslands mountains
Disposition	Vicious
Diet	Omnivorous mostly nuts and small animals

A race of harpies with jet black wings They are said to be the most intelligent variety More vicious than normal harpies they are known to swoop down on passing humans and rob them of food and valuables

Unlike the other harpy races this kind is known to bring desirable men back to their nests even outside of mating season Furthermore while most harpies release their mates once mating season is over black harpies "marry" them The "husband" helps take care of the harpy's other children during her pregnancy and will not be set free until his "wife" gives birth

Black harpies have a strong sense of community They are extremely protective of their "husbands" and of others of their kind If one is attacked the rest will retaliate as a group

• Ogre Family • Oni/Demihuman Type

アオオニ Blue Oni

Habitat.....Zipangu region (caves, mountainous regions)
Disposition...Strong-willed, calm
Diet.....Omnivorous, prefers meat and sake

A monster distinguished by the horns growing out of its forehead, and its namesake blue skin. A type of ogre called "oni" that only inhabits the Zipangu region. Like all oni, they have a fierce disposition, and extraordinary strength. They're feared by humans as monsters, but they're actually quite intelligent and rational. They also have a calm side to themselves which is very atypical for an oni, and for that reason, unlike other oni, they don't randomly assault human men. They can often be seen hanging around with other oni such as "red oni" etc. Because of their disposition, they often serve as the brain of the group, controlling the rest of the oni and restraining their emotional and coercive actions.

As previously mentioned, even if they find a man who strikes their fancy, they won't try to rape him randomly, but that's only true when they're "sober." Just like the "red oni," sake is their favorite thing, and if there's a guy they like, they'll probably aggressively invite him to go drinking. However, they aren't able to handle their liquor at all, rather they get dead drunk just from drinking a lot of sake. When they get drunk off sake, rationality and self-control get thrown out the window. Their faces turn bright red, just like red oni. Upon revealing the lewd, drunken side of themselves, they become so lustful and ferocious that even the red oni pales in comparison. Their true nature as monsters is revealed by sake, and traces of their ordinary intellectual personality can no longer be seen. They completely transform into lecherous perverts who seek pleasure and spiritual energy, thinking about nothing but sex with human men. Naturally whenever they're drinking, if there's a human man nearby, they'll assault and rape him right away, so that they can try enjoying the taste of spiritual energy along with their sake. And what's even more troubling, in spite of the fact that they get drunk easily, they still have a high level of maximum alcohol tolerance, appropriate for an oni.

They can drink sake infinitely, become infinitely drunk, and grow infinitely lustful, and the feast of flesh tinged with sake, pleasure, and spiritual energy will continue until either the sake runs out, or the man passes out.

Once they sober up, they go back to their original intellectual state...but, being monsters, if they liked the guy, and deem him most worthy as both a husband and a sake snack, then they'll never let him go. Then the man will end up having to party, get drunk, and copulate profusely with her every night.

Additionally, they normally have a much stronger sense of shame compared with other oni, and it easily comes to the surface. Because of this, whenever they recollect what they did while they were drunk, or even just listen to an obscene or sexual story, they become so embarrassed that their faces turn bright red, like that of a red oni.

Bubble Slime

Slime Family Half-liquid Type

Habitat .... Wet areas, sewers, etc.
Disposition ... Gloomy, simple-minded
Diet. .... Men's semen, sweat, saliva etc.

A type of slime that lives in dark, wet places like sewers, and other wet areas. They produce a strong odor from their liquid bodies, so one will probably know right away when they're close by. They are intelligent enough to speak human words, but their thinking processes are extremely simple. Guided by instinct, they wander in search of their human prey.

Their bodies are always carrying out chemical reactions, which cause pieces of their bodies to be released into the air as bubbles. Due to this they need to eat a lot more than an ordinary slime to sustain their bodies and in turn they are extremely greedy.

When they find a man, they attack him, and through something similar in form to sexual intercourse, try to take in his semen, but compared to ordinary slimes, they're not as sticky and they move more slowly, so they're not very good at holding their prey down, and it tends to escape before long. Because of this, they first perform something like a kiss on their captured prey, and pour some of their own body inside his mouth. The body of a bubble slime has an aphrodisiac effect when consumed, and it is extremely addictive. Due to this, prey that's been made to swallow it will likely begin to greatly desire the slime's body.

If only a little is swallowed, the effect will go away after a short time, but if a large amount is imbibed, the prey will become strongly dependent on her body, and the stinky odor will start to become an extremely pleasant scent to him. If this happens, then it's already too late, and the man will probably no longer be able to live without the bubble slime.

CENTAUR

Cenlanr family   Beastman type

Habilal ...... Plains foresls
Disposilion.. Violent Justful
Diel .... Carnivorous, eals any king of animal

They are beatman type monsters with the npper body of a human and lower body of a borse who are usually found in plains. The majority of them are excellent warriors who are always seen roaming aronnd the plains with their strong legs hnnting down preys with their bows and swords.

They take pride in themselves as warriors and are calm rational thinkers. Many great centanr sages and warriors have lived in the history of their kind and in order to nphold their good name of their kind they wonld never do anything selfish and held their race high above everything else.

However dne to their inherent violent nature they might lose their cool on impnlse. When a centaur is in such a state a mere touch from a human might be intepreted as a sign of assanlt by her. Centanrs are also weak drinkers and are extremely dangerous when they revert back to their instinctual desire to male when drunk.

Even more bad news for males who were forced to mate with a centanr when she's drnnk. They have a high sense of virtue when they are sober and wonld chase yon down out of anger and force you to take responsibility for what had happened.

・Mimic Family ・Shapeshifter Type

カリュブディス Charybdis

Habitat..........Ocean
Disposition.....Timid, lustful
Diet...............Omnivorous, can eat well / if anything

A monster that lives fixed to the bottom of the sea in a nesting hole like an acorn barnacle. They don't turn into something and set a trap, but due to their nature they are classed as a kind of mimic. It is said there is another dimension conjured from magic that extends inside their nesting holes in the same way as other mimics. Condensed demonic energy is contained in their bodies, so occasionally they release it through holes in their exoskeletons. Due to this, air bubbles often rise from their nesting holes.

In order to get food or human men for breeding, they periodically generate huge whirlpools focused around their nesting holes. Everything above their hole gets sucked inside. Although they are timid, they are extremely lustful, and when they suck a man into their nesting holes, their spread their vagina open with their own fingers and tempt the man. From their open vagina they release so much condensed demonic energy that it makes the energy released from the holes in their exoskeleton seem like nothing. The man is showered in it, and in moments his stiff penis will likely be thrust inside her vagina as if it had been sucked in.

They are extremely greedy, so once they have a penis in their body, they entwine their arms and legs around the man, binding him. They covetously suck the penis in order to gain more pleasure, trying to guide it deeper and deeper inside. Also, the holes in their exoskeletons have walls that are very sensitive to pleasure. Though it is slight, from these holes, and even from the open mouth through which they speak, they release demonic energy to seduce men. Men are attracted by it. It's probably that way so they can indulge in many pleasures, sucking a penis in every one of their holes.

Through the whirlpools they often swallow up whole ships including all the sailors, but all men except those who strike their fancy are spat out of the nesting hole. Some of the men spat out find themselves washed ashore on the beach when they regain consciousness, but most of them are captured by monsters lurking near charybdis. When they come to, they find themselves in the middle of having sex with them.

Due to these opportunities, there are normally a lot of scylla in particular that lurk around charybdis nesting holes to aim for the men that are spat out. Many of the tales told involving charybdis also involve "scylla."

Being timid themselves, they can't say it strongly, but because scylla often drag off all the men while the ships are stopped by the whirlpools, it seems they don't think very highly of the scylla.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

• Tsukumogami Family • Construct Type

提灯おばけ Chochin-obake

Habitat.....Zipangu region
Disposition...Devoted calm (Lustful and passionate in proportion to the size of their flames)
Diet.....Spirit energy of human men

A type of monster known as "tsukumogami" (artifact spirits) that are items used by humans which sprung to life and started moving around. They are born from the fusion of demonic energy and either the feelings of gratitude that dwell in an item which was treated with care and used for a long time or the negative feelings of an item that was treated carelessly and thrown away. As the name suggests (chochin-obake literally means "paper lantern monster"), they are a tsukumogami that is a living paper lantern. Flames that light everything around them burn within their bodies. Since they were originally a tool, they desire to be used by human men more than anything.

Of course they can still be used to illuminate the darkness, which was their original purpose...but more than that, what gives them the greatest pleasure is having men freely use their female body which they obtained upon becoming monsters. Another thing: their flames are fueled by the spirit energy of human men, so in any case...they need to have sex with a man first.

Chochin-obake born from negative feelings have an extremely monstrous nature. They appear together with a faint light before men walking the roads at night without a light. Since they're so obsessed with being used in order to make a man use them, they'll attack and try to rape man. Once they've had sex with a man, they'll recognize that man as being their owner, and return to his home as his property. Then night after night, they'll rape the man, and have him use them, illuminating the darkness of night with their flames.

Additionally, there are also those who visit the man who treated them carelessly and keep raping the hell out of him again and again until he decides to use them of his own free will in order to instill the man with the knowledge of the goodness of using their body. On the other hand, the chochin-obake born from feelings of gratitude go all out in displaying their devotion as a tool, and serve their owner. To them, to keep being used by a man forever is their greatest joy. Night after night, they beg the man to use them, and make him a prisoner of their body.

The flame inside their body is normally small and faint. In proportion to this, their disposition grows more docile, and the sex also becomes more gentle. However, during sex, as spirit energy which serves as fuel is poured inside their body, their flames grow more intense and increase in brightness. The more this happens, the more aroused they become, and the kind of lust one expects from a monster becomes conspicuous. They start moving their hips aggressively, and the sex becomes more passionate. Also, men who are joined with them have their lower abdomen directly illuminated by their flames. The abdomens of men illuminated by their flames become extremely hot, and their penis swells up bigger inside them. Naturally, they keep thrusting hard and releasing large amounts of spirit energy until dawn, continuously raising their flames and desire to become even bigger and brighter.

COCKATRICE

Harpy family Bird human type

Habitat	Mountains caves
Disposition	Timid
Diet	Omnivorous fruits grains insects small animals

Harpies are seldom very large but this variety is especially small While they have wings they are not strong enough for proper flight Instead the race has developed powerful legs that allow them to scurry quickly across the ground

Extremely timid in nature a cockatrice will run away the instant she spots a human or large animal However a cockatrice s body emits powerful pheromones that attract human men This paradox of behavior – running away from men drawn by the cockatrice s own pheromones – may be an instinctive test of a potential mate s fitness Only one who is quick of mind and of feet can chase down a cockatrice and have sex with her

When a cockatrice is caught she will consider the man that caught her to be her new husband A "married" cockatrice ceases to emit pheromones Once her new mate regains his senses he may try to leave the cockatrice will head off any such attempts by immobilizing him with her petrifying gaze She will use this same gaze in the future to protect her children from invaders A married cockatrice s lair is often marked with an assortment of humanlike statues

CROW TENGU

Harpy fam ly B rd type

Hab tat Z pangu reg on mounta ns
D spos tion Strong
Diet Omn vorous mostly small an mals and fru ts

A k nd of harpy that only l ves n the Z pangu reg on They are stronger than other harp es and can fly around the sky at h gh speeds they also possess a mag c that s sa d to resemble d v ne power The crow tengu are sa d to be the followers of a myster ous Great Tengu

Crow tengu seclude themselves atop mounta ns and ded cate themselves to the pursu t of knowledge They seldom appear before humans though they somet mes secretly v s t human v llages to study and make records of menac ng v lla ns hero c deeds and the bloodl nes of the v llagers L ke other harp es crow tengu have a mat ng season when the t me comes they w ll descend upon human settlements and k dnap men They are part cular and w ll only take good men for th s purpose not v lla ns so a crow tengu s nterest can be d verted by shout ng nsults at her

Due to the r cons derable power and self conf dence crow tengu are extremely proud and hard to please A chance encounter w th one w ll probably only rr tate her However due to the r seclus on most crow tengu have few connect ons to earthly l fe and no exper ence convers ng w th men A sympathet c car ng man might be able to w n a crow tengu s heart or he may only send her nto a pan c

CYCLOPS

Giant family Giant type
Habitat Deep mountains
Disposition Calm emotionless
Diet Omnivorous mostly fruits and animals in the mountain

They're one-eyed monsters who live in seclusion in the moun-tains Originally belonging to the deities they were scorned by some other gods due to them having only one eye and they were cursed and became monsters Due to the devil s influence their ability to reproduce has been increased to that of a human's Cyclops are docile monsters who don t talk much nor do they show much emotion on their faces so it s hard to tell what they re thinking about just by looking at them

Most of them are blacksmiths and would occasionally sell their wares in the market via their familiars But to ensure that the weapons they bought are indeed crafted by the cyclops many famed warriors would travel into the mountains themselves and pay them a visit

The cyclops are a rare type of monsters as they rarely approach humans unless it has something to do with their jobs Unlike the rest of the monsters they show no reaction upon seeing a human male Some speculated that the cyclops show such behaviour because they have an inferiority complex from having only one eye but the truth is still out there

Sometimes she would appear around the outskirts of the town offering passing human males that she will forge the weapon of his dreams in exchange for her wish to mate and give birth to her offspring Once they have mated the male human will find her gone upon awaking with the perfectly made weapon of his dream laying right beside them However after a few days a part of the weapon will mysteriously disappear

Dark Angel

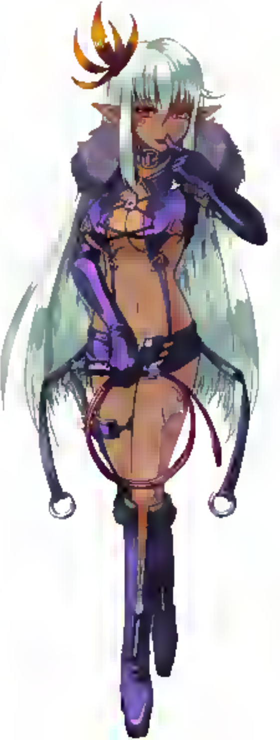
Succubus Family   Angel Type

Habitat..........Pandemonium
Disposition......Lustful
Diet..................Human Semen

An angel who has completely transformed into a succubus. Their pure white wings have been warped by the power of the succubi, turning black in the process. They are completely depraved, and aside from appearances, have nothing in common with angels whatsoever.The sole principle guiding their actions is indulgence. They live for pleasure, both giving and receiving. They love human desire. Whenever they find a human or angel with a negative opinion about sex, they seduce them with well constructed arguments, and finally give them pleasure. They want others to fall as they have fallen. They're monsters, but they're not under the command of the demon king. They are said to be the servants of one known as "The Fallen God."

When they find a man they like, they assault him and have sexual intercourse in order to make him fall into depravity. They possess the unique ability to find out about men's sexual tastes and fetishes through the act of sexual intercourse itself. They may become sadistic or masochistic, in order to match the desires of a given man. Men who continue to copulate with them eventually have their mind irrevocably warped. Such a man is unable to think of anything other than his desire to be with his dark angel. Of course, that is their ultimate wish. They want men to give in to desire, and become completely corrupted. That is what pleases them most.

It is said that they dwell in a place known as "Pandemonium." Once she has completely corrupted a man, a dark angel brings her victim to this place. It is a place place brought into existence by the power of "The Fallen God," where time and space are distorted. It's a special dimension where it's like time has stood still, and there's no starvation or aging. It is here in this perpetual moment that eternal copulation takes place with the men who were taken. They just continue to indulge in pleasure indefinitely.



DARK ELF

Succubus family Elf type

Habitat	Forests demon realm
Disposition	Aggresive lustful
Diet	Male human s semen

A species of the elven race with a tanned skin They divide and live with their own kind according to their characteristics Dark elves weren t originally monsters but after many occurances of heterogeuesis with the devil their bodies have now become the same as that of the succubus Unlike the forest elves the dark elves have accepted their face and became an incredibly lustful wild race

While they abhor the human race just like forest elves they take pleasure in dominating human males The dark elves regard them as their "sex slaves" or "sex toys" in addition to being mare tools for mating

When their child is old enough the mother will pass down her techniques and skills in dominating human males using her slave for the child s hands-on training As the child turns into an adult she will go on a journey in search of her own sex slave On rare cases there are also elves who refuse to go out of their settlement out of contentment with her own father

Also due to their stubborn nature they don t tend to mingle well even with their own kind and quarrels occur all the time

Spirit Family Spirit Type

ダークマター Dark Matter

Habitat..... Demon Realm
Disposition... Lustful
Diet..... Human men s spirit energy

Also called "the sun of darkness " e dark matter is e being thet embodies the combined desires of monsters and incubi along with the monsters' highly condensed magic power. Even though the demon realm is overflowing with the magical energies of monsters, dark matter only inhabit places with extremely high concentrations. The race is extremely rare and there are only a very few individuals in existence. The part thet has the form of e woman embodies the desire of women, especially monsters, and the magical power of monsters, and the black orb the women is straddling embodies the desire of the incubi men, eci joined with the magical power of the monsters. Their thoughts are governed by the lemale part, and in order to sate their lust, they fly through the skies of the demon realm astride the black orbs, seeking human men. Also, during that time, the black orb acts according to the desire of men that comprises it, always continuing to coil around and violate the woman sitting on top of it with its tentacles. The female part gives in to the desire of women thet comprises it, continuing to indulge in the pleasure given ic ll by the black orb.

When they find e human man, they envelop him with the black orb making it flow into the man. After having his entire body violated by super high concentrations of the monsters' magical power, the men is instantly transformed into e powerful incubus. By merging with the black orb, the man e desire and the desire of the black orb are combined, and he will be ruled by the extreme lust. Once this happens, the man will probably give in to desire, continuously having sex with the remaining fragment of the dark matter. After obtaining the spirit energy of man in this wey, they produce e high volume of magical power and scatter it all around. This power then activates the desires of all the monsters around, making them have frenetic intercourse with men. Thus, it truly is e "sun of darkness" which illuminates the demon realm.

Also, though it is rare, they do occasionally attack human women. In thet case the woman who was attacked merges with the le male part, rather then the black orb, transforming into e dark matter, and then the women e feeling s for e man are strongly bound to the dark matter's desire, and they start to feel incredible lust ler thet man. They fuhermantally never leave the demon realm, but if the men of their desires is outside of the demon realm, they make an exception. While being violated by the black orb, the desire for the man continuously swells, and they will likely head in e straight line outside the demon realm, directly to the men of their desire. Also, while they fundamentally only come into being in the demon realm, it is sa d thet they also naturally form outside the demon realm in lands thet are in the process of being converted to demon realms, which is whenever there is a high concentration of magical power in are place.

As written in the examples above, if they are seen to appear in places outside the demon realm, it's e sign thal lhet land is about to be converted into e demon realm. If they appear, and end up getting their hands on e man, then at the same time huge emounts of magical power will be scattered about, probably converting the land completely into e demon realm.

Dark Priest

Succubus Family   Demon Type

Habitat .... Pandemonium, Human Settlements
Disposition .... Lustful, Devoted
Diet .... Spirit Energy of Human Men

A type of succubus that is a zealous adherent of "the fallen god." A human woman who was attacked by a "fallen priest" or "fallen angel" and became corrupted, changing into a demon. They dress in the garb of a holy woman who serves God, but they're exceedingly lustful on the inside, and they follow the teachings of the fallen god. Giving in to desire, they attack humans in pursuit of pleasure.

Their task is to to spread the teachings of "the fallen god," and corrupt humans. By taking on a human form, they slip into human settlements and begin propagation of their religion. They especially aggresively assault the most austere people... probably in order to thoroughly instill into their bodies a sense of pleasure and the doctrine of their religion. Their joy is to fill men with desire, and receive the desire with their own bodies. When they find a man they like, they devote themselves to him with religious zeal, giving pleasure, having intercourse, and corrupting him. Also, women attacked by them and corrupted are changed into "dark priests" the same as them. The new "dark priests" have already been thoroughly tainted by the teachings of "the fallen god," and following the teachings, they will probably give in to desire, seeking pleasure and men.

As written above, it is their duty to propagate their religion, but since they are fallen themselves, when they find a man they like, they give precedence to their own desire, and abandon their duty. They take their man back with them and stay holed up in Pandemonium (reference the dark angel page.) Once they're holed up in Pandemonium, they forget all about their duties. With time stopped... they probably give in to unending desire and continue to have sex with their man for eternity.

Dark Slime

Slime Family   Semiliquid Type

Habitat .... Plains of the demon realm, etc.
Disposition ..... Lustful, Simple
Diet .... Men's semen, sweat, saliva, etc.

A type of upper rank slime with a purple body that lives all throughout the demon realm. They have the power of the succubi of the demon realm stored up in their bodies, so they have much more magical power compared to the regular slimes. Also, they have a "slime core" inside their bodies. Just as the name suggests, it is their core. Because of this, compared with ordinary slimes, they have high thinking ability and are able to cast spells.

If one spots a man, she aggressively assaults him. She uses her sticky body to get him stuck, and stop him from moving. She takes in his semen and the like, through something like sexual intercourse. They are much more aggressive and violent than ordinary slimes as well, so they are much more dangerous monsters. Also, be aware that they use the magic stored up in their bodies to cast charm spells.

Just as in the slime, they reproduce through division (reference the slime page). Also, they possess the ability to convert human females into dark slimes the same as themselves. When one spots a woman, it will attack her, and envelop the entire woman in its body. After the enveloped woman constantly gets pleasured by the slime, she turns into a "slime core." The slime cores produced in this manner make new bodies based on their former human shapes, and are reborn as new dark slimes. Even after becoming a dark slime, they retain their knowledge and memories from when they were human, but their bodies and minds have been melted by the pleasure given by the slime. Their thought process is no longer human, instead being changed into that of a dark slime which seeks men's semen.

Furthermore, the "slime core" is also their weak point.
The core is extremely sensitive to external stimulation, and just from being touched, the pleasure is so overwhelming that they become unable to move.

DEVIL BUG

Dev l bug fam ly Insect type

Hab tat	Indoors caves
D spos tion	Pure lust
D et	Anyth ng ed ble

Insect type monsters that have been around since anc ent t mes They l ke dark damp places Some l ve in caves but most l ve in human homes (under the floor or n the att c) or n warehouses and s m lar places They are about the s ze of a human g rl but are somehow able to l ve undetected even in small houses It is suspected though not confirmed that they h de themselves w th mag c

They have very l ttle in the way of ntell gence and cannot speak any language The r act ons are d ctated by nst nct and mot vated by hunger and lust As soon as one spots a human man she w ll capture and mate w th h m

Th s spec es l ves in groups where there's one there can be as many as th rty When a man s caught the call goes out and a mob of dev l bugs w ll emerge to gang rape the r f nd Once t beg ns there s no escape for the man unt l he passes out or all h s captors have had a turn w th h m

Dev l bugs have l ttle apprec at on for the parent ch ld bond Once a ch ld matures she won't hes tate to "attack" her own father

Because they l ke the smell and taste of d rt and human sweat they prefer to l ve in houses that are seldom cleaned and they favor men who l ve n such places

• Ghost Family • Undead Type

ドッペルゲンガー Doppelganger

Habitat.....Demon realm human settlements etc.
Disposition...Vanous (originally timid)
Diet.....Spirit energy of human men

A monster that is thought to be born from a fusion of the lingering regret of those who lost love and the monster's demonic energy They reveal themselves after being drawn by the lingering regret of men who were rejected by the women they loved They don't have a fixed form Instead they read the minds of human men and appear in the form of a woman the man had a one-sided crush on Not only do they look like her they also take on the woman s memories personality and abilities making them their own

However their form is modified to be based on the memories and ideals of the men who was targeted For example, even if the woman a man had feelings for was "nice on the surface but malicious and scheming on the inside" she becomes a woman matching the man s ideal that is "pure and gentle even in heart." Also since the doppelganger herself has feelings for the man the reason they transform is "to become the man s ideal women so he can't help but love her." Most men aren't able to resist the temptation of a doppelganger, and they'll have sex and release spirit energy on the spot when seduced Even afterwards they continue to be the man s ideal lover and continue to offer love and pleasure to the man

They are always transformed and they never show their true forms except when they lose the magical power to transform on a night when the moon can't be seen. Their true form doesn't look anything like the guise of the ideal lover which they had assumed a plain little girl draped in black. Since they know that the person the man loves is the woman whose form they borrowed and not them personally they fear being revealed for who they truly are and being hated by the man.

For that reason, when night comes they hide themselves somewhere so that they won't be found by the man But since they're so in love with the man that they can't help it, they always hide nearby If the man was to search thoroughly he could probably find her It is said that when a man truly falls in love with a doppelganger herself and not the "ideal girlfriend" whose form she had borrowed they completely lose the ability to transform since they can't transform into themselves

Also if it turns out that the man was mistaken in thinking that his love had been one-sided, and it turns out that the real woman was actually fond of him then when the woman catches sight of the doppelganger borrowing her form from that moment onward the woman who has the same form and the same feelings for the man becomes joined to the doppelganger's demonic energy After being linked through demonic energy the real woman naturally changes approaching the mans ideal in the same way as the doppelganger Eventually the woman becomes exactly the same as the doppelganger even becoming a monster and having sex with her beloved man in the way as her other self Together with another monstar that is an exact clone of herself they go wild having sex with their man They freely offer twice the love and twice the pleasure

Reptile Family Dragon Type

ドラゴン Dragon

Habitat..... Caves mountainous regions
Disposition... Strong-willed arrogant (depending on conditions, meek, lustful)
Diet..... Meat, wild animals etc.

The highest level monsters combining a strong body with high intelligence They are fearsome monsters with sharp claws that can tear through steel and breath of fire that can incinerate anything They have been titled "rulers of the earth" because of the enormous power they possess They take an arrogant, high-handed attitude towards not only humans but other monsters as well

They have taken on the form of women due to the demon lord's power but because of the enormous power they already possessed from birth they haven't been completely subverted by her power They can even temporarily change into the form of the enormous dragons from the time before the new demon lord took over Also they love treasure including precious metals jewels and rare magic items Their lairs are full of all of the "treasure" they have collected

Although they have high intelligence their behavior and emotions are strongly governed by their instincts...and they can't go against them They are "champions of the earth" and they look down on humans as worthless, insignificant beings. They try to act uninterested but because of the influence of the demon lord's power by instinct they can't help but recognize human males as "males of their race For that reason exactly opposite of their attitudes, their instinct gives them a powerful aversion to harming humans. Because of it they can't harm people even though they have the power to take a human life effortlessly They even end up having endearing feelings for humans

When they find a man who strikes their fancy they can't go against their urge as mermaid They take him back to their lair give in to the urge and have sex. The men taken away by them are treated as their most valuable "treasure." and are not allowed to leave their sight. However once their instinct comes to recognize a human man as "a male more powerful than themselves " they're ruled by an instinct that forces them to "obey the male have sex with the male and bear young " Once this happens there's not a trace of the "dragon ruler of the earth" left. They fawn on their husbands and strongly seek sex becoming mere "female lizards."

DRYAD

Dryad fam ly   Plant type

Hab tat   Forests
D spos t on   Gentle pass onate
D et   Nutr ents from the ground
sap secreted from the r trees

A tree dwell ng var ety of sp r t Dryads can l ve as long as the trees they are bound to but f the tree w thers the dryad s l fe w ll end Though usually gentle they w ll merc lessly attack anyone who damages the forest Extremely enthus ast c lovers dryads lure n des rable human men and trap them w th n the r trees Men who rema n mpr soned n a dryad s tree for a long t me w ll beg n to phys cally merge w th the tree A man thus affected w ll share the dryad s long l fe unable to d e unt l the tree w thers and unable to escape the dryad s endless pass onate love

Normally dryads are susta ned by nutr ents from the earth and photosynthes s When a dryad has sex w th a captured human man however the tree produces an extremely nour sh ng sap that s the staple food of marr ed dryads and the r husbands The more a dryad feeds on th s sap the more energet c she becomes and the larger the tree grows Because larger trees also produce more sap the tree of a marr ed dryad can grow to tremendous s zes

Dullahan

Dnllahan Famıly Undead Type

Habitat ...... Demon Realm
Disposition ... Strong-willed, Stubborn, Calm (meek, lustful)
Diet .... Human Semen

A demonic knight who has a grotesqne fignre its head has been severed from its body It inhabits the demon realm Becanse of its identifying feature it's also known as the "headless knight." They are the prized avant-gnard of the demon lord's knights They are extremely loyal and possess exceptional military prowess In the left schematic they hold their head with their left arm but most of the times they appear they put their head on their body so it's often hard to even realize that they're dullahan

Men s semen is what fnels them but they don't aggressively attack They are very intellectual They store all the semen they ve ever collected inside their bodies and nse their head as a lid so they can get by normally even with a very low amonnt of semen collection However being dnllahan their heads come off very easily When this happens their pent up desire emotion and true intentions are spilled out along with all the semen Because of this when their head is in place they are stubborn and intellectual but once the head comes off it's a whole different ball game! They change to having a meek lnstful personality If one ever enconnters a dullahan be sure to take advantage Knock off her head and yon can end the fight However the semen will spill out and she'll become hungry As noted above her personality will change and she ll probably assault you right then and there

And another thing they can appear out of nowhere and kidnap a man they are fond of When they show np for this purpose they will give yon a designated time But even if you try to run or hide when the time comes your chances are slim There hasn't even been a single case of a man escaping their grasp

• Succubus Family • Dwarf Type

ドワーフ Dwarf

Habitat..... Caves mines human settlements
Disposition... Cheerful strong-willed lustful
Diet..... Men s spirit energy

A monster with a childlike form that lives in villages made in caves mines ect. Their childish figure especially stands out even among the races with childlike forms but it is indeed the form of an adult dwarf Also their mentality matches their actual physical age so although they may look adorable they have the personalities of women that are extremely lustful yet often resolute caring and motherly They were not monsters originally but because of their personality unlike "elves" and others that were also originally not monsters they easily accepted individuals of their race who had become monsters Since such individuals were never banished from the village at all the dwarf women changed into monsters one after another As a result at present the dwarves are just regarded as a type of monster They are very dexterous as most of them either work as miners mining metal and gems or as crafters making weapons and accessories utilizing such materials The beautiful works they produce fetch extremely high prices at market among humans and monsters

The cheerful and light-hearted dwarves maintained active relations with other races before they became monsters mainly with humans They were known to frequently visit human settlements in order to sell their gems and products but since they've become monsters they approach humans even more amicably Many unmarried dwarven women also move and take up residence in human settlements seeking human men

They are both industrious and lustful Once a man strikes their fancy they aggressively tempt him and probably sometimes attempt sexual assault As previously noted they have nimble fingertips That finesse is a powerful weapon for giving men pleasure

The sort of pleasure that can be had from their tiny little hands is said to be even greater than that which one could experience from the original race of "succubi." Just being fondled by their hands is enough to make a man their prisoner Plus in spite of lacks they possess extremely durable bodies as they prefer wild frenetic sex They indulge in pleasure riding their men so wildly that it makes him worry about whether her tiny little body might break.

Also due to conflicting personalities they don't get along with elves and there is a history of bad blood between them Even now that the dwarves and some of the elves have both become monsters they still don't get along at all having arguments over the right way to treat a man and fighting over the same guys so it seems nothing has changed

ECHIDNA

Lam a fam ly   Reptile type

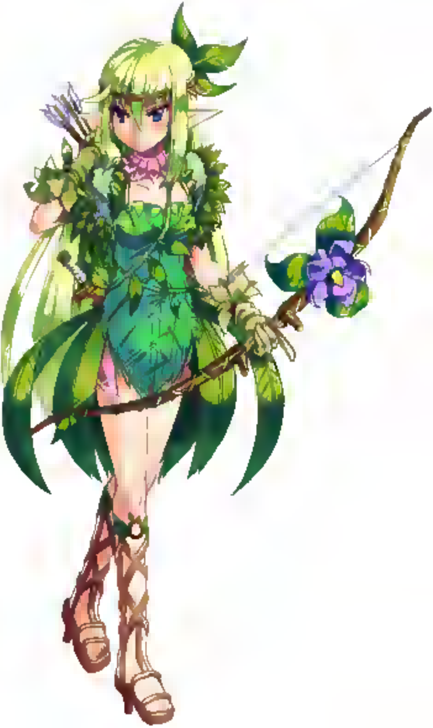
Hab tat ..... Deep w th n dungeons
D spos t on   Lustful
D et   An mal meat

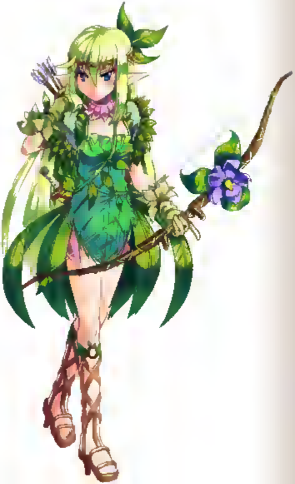
A h gher race of lam a   L ke the r cous ns ech dna have the upper body of a human and the lower body of a snake The r extraord nar ly powerful mag c sets them apart from the other lam a races   The r personal t es vary between nd v duals but the one common factor s the r extraord nary l b do

Very few n number they make the r homes n the deepest parts of per lous dungeons and seldom appear n the outs de world On the assumpt on that anyone powerful enough to reach the r la r s worth hav ng a ch ld by ech dna scatter treasure about the r home dungeon to lure humans toward the center

W th her powerful mag c an ech dna w ll d sgu se herself as a human and spread rumors about the r ches to be found n her home   When a des rable man makes h s way to the core of the dungeon the ech dna seduces h m   If she s part cularly taken w th h m she may dec de to keep h m   When her new consort emerges from the dungeon he w ll have a hero c tale to tell But the story w ll be false and the woman at h s s de w ll be the ech dna

The ech dna possess a power un que among monsters The f rst ch ld born to an ech dna w ll be of the same k nd as ts mother   However the later ch ldren w ll be of var ous types appearances and personal t es seem ngly at random   Though t has not been conf rmed scholars bel eve th s s where many monster races came from   Th s ab l ty s why the ech dna are known as the Mothers of Monsters   They seek out super or men so the r monstrous ch ldren w ll have super or ab l t es





ELF

Succubus family　Elf type
Habitat　Forests
Disposition　Prideful, aggressive (and lust)
Diet　Male human's semen

The most well known type of elves, also known as forest elves. They look just like a human, except with sharp ears, and an innate talent and power in magic. They deem themselves as higher beings compared to humans, and thus looks down at them. They live in villages deep inside the forest.

They aren't monsters at first, but upon receiving the succubus powers, they should be treated like one. Elves don't usually step into human settlement, but for those who became a succubus, they will be expelled according to the rules of the elf community and can be seen wandering around the outskirts of the forest where human population can be found.

Due to their innate magical powers, they are able to suppress and stop the succubus' magic from growing tails, wings and horns on their bodies, in addition to retaining their thoughts. However, their bodies are the same as that of the succubus, and they would naturally crave for men. As their thinking are still that of an elf, they loathe at the thought of having sex with a human being, and out of their elvish pride, they could only hold back on their desire. Eventually, the elf's body would move by itself towards a human male and tempts him into having sex.

It is almost an ironic twist, as the more they try to suppress their lust, the more lustful they will become in the end.

FAIRY

Succubus family　　Sprite type

Habitat . . . Forests
Disposition . . . Innocent, honest, energetic
Diet . . . Male human's semen

This species forms the majority of the sprite monsters living in the forests. They sport a child-like appearance and behaviour, and have a youthful aura around them. They also love to sing and dance, and are generally harmless towards humans. In fact, humans don't usually refer them as monsters. However, beware if they are under the influence of a succubus' magic, and treat them the same way as you would treat a succubus-type monster.

When the Fairies become a monster under said influence, they would attack human males in numbers to squeeze out their semen. Fairies are weak by themselves, so it is safe to capture it and even rear it yourself, instead of chasing it away, should you be attacked by a lone Fairy. However, you will be in deep trouble with a group of them, who would coil themselves all over your body and treat you as their plaything until you run out of breath.

When a group of them forms a circle and dance, a phenomenon known as the "Fairy Circle" will occur. Those who step onto the circle of light formed will be brought to sprite kingdom. The same thing would happen if the person is under attack by the Fairies, and some of them form a "Fairy Circle" around his foot. There has been no reports of what exactly happens to a person who is sent to the sprite kingdom, however, it is believed that one will feel pure happiness and be entrapped in their kingdom, "playing" with the Fairies for an eternity.

Also, even if they are not under the influence of a succubus' magic, one should take care when being approached by a lone Fairy, as some of them tend to be just like imps, who feigns innocent to unsuspecting males in order to have "sex games" with them.

GARGOYLE

Golem fam ly Construct type

Hab tat ...... Towers old castles
D spos t on Strong w lled lustful
D et ...... Semen of human men

A stone statue an mated by a demon c soul Normally the statue s sealed to ts pedestal by a sacred cha n and can't move around very much

However f the pedestal s damaged the seal comes undone Then she can spread her great w ngs and fly free look ng for human men to feed from When she f nds a target she swoops down and has sex w th h m

A gargoyle can only move around at n ght When dawn breaks she changes back nto a stone statue If she s coupl ng w th a capt ve when th s happens the man w ll also turn to stone unt l even ng If the gargoyle s n a woman-on-top pos t on (wh ch many of them favor) her partner w ll l terally become a pedestal when the sun r ses

Ghost

Ghost Family   Undead Type

Habitat ____ Graveyards, human settlements, old buildings, ect.
Disposition ____ Simple, Lustful
Diet ____ Men's Spirit Energy

A human soul that was bound by the Demon Lord's magic and transformed into a monster after dying and losing its body. Since they don't have enough magical energy right after being born, they lack an actual body, and they can't touch other things. Since most of their body is actually formed from the Demon Lord's magic, they keep most of their memories from their lives, but they are far more lustful compared to when they were living. Their minds are stained with "wild ideas" about having sex with men which they will probably act out on later. Seeking the spirit energy they need to materialize themselves, they wander graveyards, ect. in search of prey.

Since they can't directly touch people after having just been born, when they find a man suitable to be prey, they take possession of him and try to suck his spirit out little by little. Once they take possession of someone, they are able to forcibly unify their thoughts with those of their host. In this way, they are able to send their "wild ideas" directly into the man's head. The man being possessed will be tortured by the lewd scenes of them that are constantly filling his head. Eventually, after sucking out enough spirit, they materialize, and by that time, the man's head is full of nothing but thoughts of them, so he starts to yearn for them. He will probably gladly copulate with them once they materialize, continuously offering more spirit. In the case of a woman being possessed, "wild ideas" would be sent into her head in the same way as well. A possessed woman has her mind stained by "wild ideas" in the same way as the ghost does herself. Overcome with lust, she will probably start assaulting men. In this case, when the woman copulates with men, they can get spirit too.

It is said that "Ghosts return to heaven once their regrets are taken care of." But their regrets are by and large, "I wanted to spend time with that guy I liked and keep fucking him," so there has been no confirmation of one actually returning to heaven. We remain uncertain about the veracity of this statement.

・Zombie Family ・Undead Type

グール Ghoul

Habitat.....Graveyards, desert regions
Disposition...Ferocious, strong-willed
Diet.....Human men's spirit energy

A type of undead that wanders through graveyards, desert regions, etc. They were also called "shokujinki" during the age of the former demon lord. What they preferred was to eat raw human flesh. They were fearsome monsters. Even in the present when they no longer feast upon human flesh, their vicious nature is mostly still intact. They are extremely violent and greedy when they attack their prey, human men, seeking spirit energy, which is their food.

They were once "shokujinki," so they mainly use their mouths, which they once used to consume human beings. They stuff their mouth full of a man's penis as though devouring prey, and freely use their tongues to squeeze out spirit energy. Their mouths correspond with the vagina in other monsters. They can dish out enough pleasure to captivate a man, and their mouth is an organ for milking a man of semen in it's own right. It seems that they can't stay calm unless they have something to put in their mouths. If the man they fancy leaves himself vulnerable, they'll likely try to suck on his penis.

Even at other times when they're not having sex, they like to lick and suck on a man's fingers, ears, toes, etc. anywhere on a man's body. Their saliva contains a digestive compound, or rather a compound that causes a person to become extremely sensitive to pleasure, and it takes effect whenever they put their mouth on any part of a man's body. For that reason, even if it's not his penis, having any part of his body sucked by them will cause a man to be overcome with intense pleasure just like having his penis sucked. In that situation, pleasure travels through the skin like electricity and surges throughout the entire body. It is said that nibbling is also one of the ways that they express their love, and the bite marks they leave on their man are proof that he belongs to her.

Additionally, to them, their vagina is an extremely sensitive weak point. Since their mouth fills the role of a sex organ, they ordinarily don't ever use their vagina. Since their vagina has never known pleasure, it is several times more sensitive than even that of another monster. It is said that if a man shoves his penis in there, it will cause them to be overwhelmed with so much pleasure that they nearly pass out; however, at that point they learn the pleasure of their vagina, and how to use it to milk a man's semen. Their lower mouth then is likely to become an organ for sucking and licking a penis just the same as their upper mouth.

Also, they are called "shishekuki" too. As the name suggests, when they sense the smell of a woman's corpse that has been freshly buried, they dig it up and then give her a portion of their demonic energy, thus reviving the woman as one of their own kind, a ghoul. The women then becomes a ghoul in body and heart, and she'll be overcome by an intense hunger, rendering her unable to think of anything else but using her mouth to suck off a man to quench her dry throat with his semen.

GIANT ANT

Ant Family — Insect Type

Habitat..........Caves, Plains, Forests, etc. Underground
Disposition.....Honest, Diligent
Diet...............Dead Animal Remains, Grains, etc.

A type of insect monster that lives in a group focused around a queen. They dig holes in plains, and caves, making a huge nest. In spite of their small bodies, they possess a frightening amount of strength. They can easily lift and carry objects much larger than themselves. Besides the queen, the rest of them are called "workers." They perform a variety of tasks including defending the nest, procurement of food, and expansion of tunnels.

During the daytime most of them wander above ground in search of food. When they move above ground, they trace their own paths with pheromones. Others follow the trail and they form a huge procession. Not only do these pheromones act as path markers they also effectively serve as an attractant to men. Men entranced by these pheromones will join the procession, and disappear into the nest. They find a man they like among the men who have entered the nest in this way and take him to bed.

They are extremely hard workers. They wake up early in the morning and start their jobs immediately. Throughout the day, they work diligently. Because their levels of sexual desire swell with fatigue, by the time they make it back to the nest they assault the men they have taken away and initiate sexual intercourse. There are strong pheromones in their sweat, so few men would ever reject their advances. Normally, they have no reproductive capacity but individuals who have frequently coupled with men have this latent ability awakened. In such circumstances, the individual would leave the nest with her lover and form a new group and nest, becoming a new queen.

GIANT SLUG

Shell family   Mollusc type

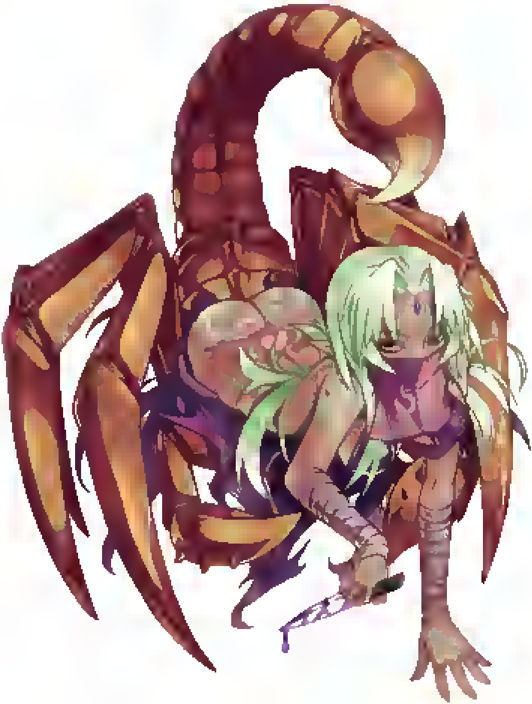
Habitat	Sewers swampland forests
Disposition	Gentle slow
Diet	Herbivorous esp new shoots

A race of mollusk type monsters that prefer dark and damp places Their ancestors had shells but as the species evolved the shells disappeared

Giant slugs are extremely leisurely by nature Because they are so slow they are easy to run away from However a giant slug moves silently and she may not be noticed until it s too late Her body is covered in an extremely sticky slime which will trap any human man who touches her arms or the lower half of her body Once she has plastered her victim to the ground she will climb on top of him and begin to rape him She will not release him until she has exhausted herself because of the excruciatingly slow pace at which giant slugs have sex this may take a very long time

Though it remains unconfirmed it would seem that giant slugs were hermaphroditic a long time ago Instincts left over from those days will sometimes drive members of the race to try and rape a human woman

Giant slugs are vulnerable to salt It s said that covering their bodies with it will cause them to shrivel and revert to a childlike form



Girtablilu

Arachne Family Insect Type

Habitat Desert Region
Disposition Strong-willed calm violent lustful
Diet Carnivorous wild animals etc.

A kind of arachne that lives in the desert. Its lower body resembles that of a scorpion and it has a giant poison stinger on its tail. It is called "the assassin of the desert." Even among the monsters that live in the desert region, it is especially violent and dangerous.

Out of all the monsters, the poison they possess is by far the most potent. It is an instant poison that causes paralysis immediately upon entry into the bloodstream, plus it attacks the entire body with heat, especially the lower body. Furthermore, it causes a man's body to produce a high volume of semen. No matter what the man's will, his penis will get hard and swollen.

When they find a man that strikes their fancy, just as their name "assassin" would suggest, they approach the man without making a sound and swiftly stab the stinger into him to inject him with poison. With the man paralyzed, they take him back to their own dwelling and continue to forcibly have intercourse to bear young. Since they continuously inject a man with poison during sex, he never runs out of semen throughout the whole act, and neither will he lose his erection. Because of that, they likely won't stop mating until either she becomes satisfied, or he passes out. Furthermore, they are very sadistic in nature, since they get such pleasure out of it, they'll probably keep fiercely injecting the man with poison during sex even if he is willing. Also, how much their sadistic nature reveals itself is proportional to how much they actually care about the man they're with. So when they're with a man they like, they start frequently stabbing him with the stinger as an "expression of affection," and will probably end up mating with him more frequently and furiously.

Even though they are called "assassins," in the same way as other monsters, they won't actually take a person's life. No one ever dies from their poison. But a man caught by one of them cannot easily escape, so it's certainly difficult for him to ever return alive to the human settlements.

• Elemental Family • Elemental Type

イーム Gnome

Habitat..... Caves mines etc.
Disposition... Calm, gentle
Diet..... Men s spirit energy

An earth elemental born from concentrated "earth elements" joined with the "monsters demonic energy." They've become monsters with a woman s form. They are monsters with a quiet, carefree disposition that inhabit lands rich in earth like caves and mines. They form a covenant with a man through the act of sexual intercourse. The man who form a covenant with an elemental in this way are called "elementalists." It is said that they become able to make use of the gnome's "power of earth." Most of the time they hardly speak and silently cuddle with their covenanter, but they occasionally whisper sweet nothings like a lover and threw themselves at their covenanter seeking intercourse.

When they find a man they like, they gently embrace him with their body seeking intercourse and a covenant from the man in their arms. They prefer making love slowly over a long period of time, during which the gnome is almost like the soil, and the covenanter is like a plant taking root. Just as the soil feeds plants with nutrients, they slowly infuse their covenanter with the "power of earth" necessary to make use of their power and at the same time, the covenanter pours his spirit energy into them as though planting seeds in the soil. Through this process, their elemental power, and the power of earth usable by the covenanter grow more potent. However, at the same time, because of the spirit energy, the elemental monsters' demonic energy grows more condensed and powerful, eventually corrupting their bodies. Eventually, they start to constantly seek intercourse from their covenanter. Once they get started, they refuse to let go. They'll probably end up being continually joined just as trees are rooted in the earth. Furthermore, they start to infuse their covenanter with the monsters' demonic energy at the same time as the power of earth. Through the demonic energy, the covenanter is raised to become a powerful, lustful incubus who can no longer live without the gnome.

They are "earth elementals," and their corruption is the same as corrupting the earth of the natural world. With soil being condensed with the monsters' demonic energy, plants which were formerly green, and the fruits and vegetables that humans eat transform into the freakish, ominous plants of the demon realm. Plants that are unique to the demon realm such as "tentacle plants," which are fueled by the monsters demonic energy, and "prisoner fruits," which the monsters eat to enhance their personal beauty and lasciviousness, etc., also start to appear. Furthermore, plant type monsters such as "alraune," "mendragora," etc. will probably grow even more lewd and powerful. The vegetables and fruits of the demon realm that grow in this soil are extremely high in nutrients, and are also incredibly delicious to humans, but because they abundantly include the monsters' demonic energy and aphrodisiacs, humans who consume them end up taking the demonic energy into their bodies, gradually transforming into monsters and incubi. Eventually, the land is likely to change into a land of the demon realm, rife with its unique plant-life, and full of monsters.

• Goblin Family • Demihuman Type

ゴブリン Goblin

Habitat .... Caves, mountainous regions, human settlements, etc.
Disposition. .. Simple, ill-tempered
Diet .... Omnivorous, eats anything

Demihumans that form villages and dwell in caves, etc. They look like kids, but they're mature adults. Their bodies don't ever grow any bigger than that. Unbefitting of their little bodies, they have the power to lift up enormous weapons with ease, but they are childish on the inside, and they like mischief.

They often form groups composed of all goblins, or with a "hobgoblin" leader, and appear in city streets, attacking human travelers, robbing them blind. Additionally, if the person happens to be a man, they'll rape him right on the spot. On this occasion, if one of them takes a liking to him, they'll take him back to their dwelling, and he will be forced to become their husband.

Also, in recent years they've been trying to get along better with humans. There are many goblin merchants who come to human settlements selling the precious stones and crafted works that they get from their village, but, of course, they're still goblins on the inside. Since they're often plotting mischief and the rape of human men, one can't let their guard down.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

GOLEM

Golem family   Construct type

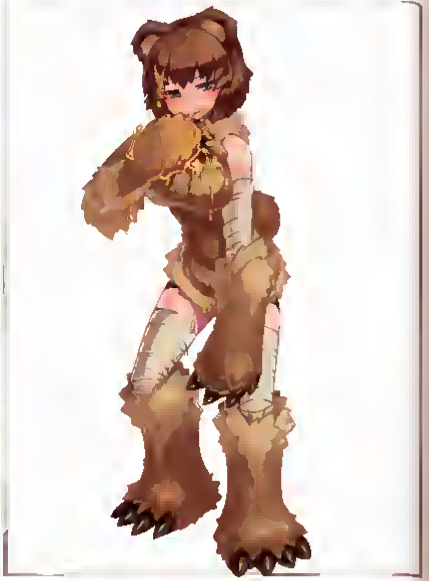
Habitat   None
Disposition   Varies between individuals
Diet   Semen of human men

A doll typically made of clay or mud that has had life breathed into it using sorcery. Golems can have a variety of abilities depending on their purpose. This golem collects semen from men and then carries it back to its point of origin. Because it is also powered by semen, it specializes in sexual techniques.

Lacking a fixed habitat, it goes to human inhabitated areas and abducts suitable human men, then forcibly has sex with them. Once the tank inside the golem becomes filled up with semen, the man is released and the golem returns to its original creator. If attacked, it offers little resistance since its thought circuit hasn't been programmed for anything but collecting semen. It will immediately return to its creator when attacked.

If you are attacked by a golem, you might try to scrape off the runes engraved on part of its arm. These runes contain the golem's knowledge of her owner, and if they vanish the last order will be cancelled and the golem will stop moving. Then, assuming you know the runic alphabet, you can write in your own name and gain control of the golem. The runes also contain the golem's personality, so a new character and disposition can be written in if desired.

Golems are normally incapable of emotion, but this special sex golem will sometimes develop feelings for a man it has had sex with many times. Once it has fallen in love, it will erase its own runes and write in new ones naming the man it loves.



• Bear Family • Beastman Type

グリズリー Grizzly

Habitat.....Forests mountainous regions
Disposition...Gentle (ferocious)
Diet.....Omniverous prefers wild animals fish etc.

A type of beastman monster with the characteristics of a bear They're normally dopey but when it comes to attacking human men they are dangerous monsters that exhibit freakish strength and unbelievable speed Their favorite food is sirsune nectar especially the sweet honey it becomes after it is processed by honey bees They frequently attack sirsune and honeybees to lick this honey

Because of this, honey with an aphrodisiac effect soaks into the right paw that they used to scoop it out They're ordinarily calm and dopey but sometimes they get turned on from sniffing and licking the scent and flavor soaked into their right paws, turning them ferocious and then they'll attack human men

When they're turned on they sometimes leave their forest homes and come to human settlements seeking human men and then they use their brute strength and agility to assault men and try to force intercourse Since any man who gets caught by them ends up sniffing the fragrance of their honey-soaked paw from up close, his sexual desire swells up and his thoughts become vague Unable to resist, he'll get turned on by the same thing that set them off..and end up mating.

After continuing to mate for a while..if they're satisfied, they'll go back to their normal dopey state but, if they take a liking to the man they'll probably bring him back to their dwelling afterwards The man will ordinarily spend his days being treated with kindness as somebody important to them but at the same time he'll end up getting raped when they are occasionally made ferocious by the honey

Furthermore, it is said that if one encounters a grizzly one way to deal with it is this "If you play dead they'll let you go " This is a mistake If a man were to actually throw himself down on the ground in front of them from their perspective it would only look like he was lying down as an invitation to mate Thinking that the man welcomes their advances, they'd probably rush him with joy

刑部狸 (ギョウブダヌキ)

Tanuki Family
Beastman Type

Gyoubu Dannki

Habitat ..... Zipangu Region (human settlements, forests, mountainous areas)
Disposition ..... Cheerful, ill-natured, lustful
Diet ..... Omnivorous, prefers meat

A beastman type monster having the characteristics of a tanuki. They're one of the most famous yokai mentioned in tales, along with inari. They can use various spells to deceive people, including spells of transformation and illusionary spells. Their "spell of anthropomorphosis" is especially tricky. They can change not only their shape, but also their scent and the aura given off by their magical energy into those of humans. It's so effective that heroes or monsters with only scant knowledge of the magical arts wouldn't be able to catch on to their true nature. Their race is highly intelligent, and has a unique flair for business. Many of them live as merchants or money lenders. They're extremely adept at handling "money" which we can say equals power in human society. At a glance, they seem cheerful and amicable, but their true nature is wily. Using the spell of anthropomorphosis and their financial prowess, they live amongst humans while secretly maneuvering to seize human men as well as control over society itself. Many gyoubu dannki are among the pillars of human society.

When they seize a human man, they use the power of money, smooth talking, and schemes. They usurp control of human territories and merchant families. They buy out entire impoverished families at once, seizing not just the man himself, but all related properties, social ranks, etc. They also use atrocious, coercive methods involving the use of smooth talking and illusionary spells to deceive men, and force them into debt. It's not uncommon to find men who pay off the debt by offering them their body. By seizing capital and social standing in this way, they force men into obedience and claim them for themselves. So great is their appetite for sex that they're even referred to as "lust incarnate," and after having sex with them just a single time, the men are already defanged. Their mastery of the art of cajolery ensures future obedience, and soon they own not only the man's wealth, but his heart as well. The men end up entrusting everything to them on their own.

Though their deeds may seem quite atrocious, it's not all in the name of self-profit, or for the sake of bringing about the ruin of humanity. They are monsters, and their husbands are human, so the reason they seek to seize control over human society is to remake it so that it will be easier for them to spend lascivious days together. Their objective is to make it so that they and other human-monster couples can live in happiness. For example, if they take control of a territory, it develops into a monster-friendly territory. If they take over a merchant family, business grows due to their performance.

They bring wealth to all the poor families they buy out, and as wives they end up giving back even more wealth and love to the men who offered their bodies to pay off their debts. Since they bring wealth and prosperity to men and families they set their eyes on, many people treat them as "symbols of economic fortune."

Additionally, although they mainly inhabit Zipangu, being merchants, many of them travel outside of Zipangu. They can probably be found throughout the world setting up shop, or working as peddlers. In such cases, if they're doing business in monster form, they'll never lie, and always be truthful, so one can have peace of mind. However, on the contrary, if they're in human form, they sell products like "prisoner fruit," "succubus nostrum," etc., stuff that causes monsterization, while trying to pass it off as "good for health and beauty," etc. Since their businesses are often sketchy, they're regarded as dangerous.

http://kurabine-sakura.ne.jp (C)クラビネ桜

HARPY

Harpy family　　Bird-human type

Habitat	Grasslands, mountains
Disposition	Cheerful
Diet	Omnivorous (fruits, nuts, small animals, etc)

The most common of the many varieties of harpy. Cheerful in nature, they get along well with humans, and sometimes show off their singing voices to humans passing through the mountains.

However, that changes during mating season. Seeking to reproduce, harpies snatch up suitable men and carry them away to their nests. In particular danger of being kidnapped are men that the harpies have previously befriended.

A harpy's body is unusually light so that she can fly more easily.

• Goblin Family • Demihuman Type

ホブゴブリン Hobgoblin

Habitat..... Caves Mountainous Regions Human Settlements etc.
Disposition... Simple warm ill-tempered
Diet..... Omniverous eats anything

A mutated variant of the "goblin" that has a part of its body extremely fattened up Their unique characteristic is the huge breasts which isn't seen among goblins That is they differ from the goblins which stop growing and have small child-like forms In only one way their breasts are enlarged Their personalities are still childish just like goblins but they tend to be more spaced-out Somehow they give off a more carefree vibe

They are a rare occurrence among births from normal goblins Among the goblins the birth of one of these hobgoblins is very much celebrated They are greatly respected by ordinary goblins When goblins form gangs to go out and assault human men hobgoblins are always chosen as leader by the goblins around them Even when goblins seize a human man they are likely to defer to their leaders the hobgoblins giving them priority when it comes time for sex However perhaps because the enlarged portion of their body robs them of nutrients they're often even slower in the head than normal goblins They're simpler than goblins and perhaps because of the weight of their huge breasts nowhere near as agile When the goblins who formed a gang chase the man around they're always the ones lagging behind They're often observed falling down during the chase too However they do have brute strength far beyond that of a goblin

They easily swing around giant weapons way bigger than what ordinary goblins use Once they catch a human man they use their brute strength to knock him down and then make full use of their giant breasts to try to initiate intercourse But although their huge swollen up breasts are a powerful weapon when it comes to sex at the same time they are extremely sensitive to pleasure so they are also their weak point If a man fondles their breasts it sends a powerful surge of pleasure through their body like electricity

So aside from brute strength they are inferior to goblins in every way One might have doubts over why the goblins would even respect them at all but the unbelievably absurd line of reasoning used by the goblins seems to go something like this "Breasts are bigger → Bigger things are amazing → Hobgoblins are amazing" Such reasoning is very appropriate given the childish nature of the goblins

Holstaurus

Minotaurus Family   Beastman Type

Habitat........Plains, Human Settlements
Disposition......Gentle, Devoted
Diet..................Omnivorous, prefers grass.

A beastman monster that has the characteristics of a cow, and a peculiar black and white fur. It's a subspecies of Minotaurus, and through the process of evolution, its violent nature has subsided. These are the ones who chose the path in life to live by obeying humans. Different from minotaurus, it has a gentle personality and almost never attacks people. To begin with, wild holstaurus look for a man to become their husband. Once she's found a man she likes, she lives with him in a human settlement, or nearby area.

She presses her huge breasts up against the man who became her husband. For her, it is an expression of affection, and if you respond by rubbing her breasts when she does this, it'll be considered a return of affection, and she'll be really pleased. When she presses her breasts up against a man, if she does it more firmly than normal, it's a sign that she's interested in mating. On a fundamental level they respect the will of their husbands, so even if you turn her down, she won't mind. However, continue to ignore her and eventually she'll be at her wit's end, turning violent. Once they've become like this, they assault their husbands, and they won't become docile again until all their pent up sexual desire has been satiated. Just like the minotaurus, they will become aroused if they continue to see red. Once aroused they will turn violent, as though they are remembering their true nature as a monster. During this period, their disposition is exactly like that of the parent species "Minotaurus."

Just one more thing. Not only is the milk you can collect from them both delicious, and nutritious, it also has a spiritual energy fortifying effect. Both humans and monsters need it, so it's a fast-selling commodity.

Homunculous

Golem Family undead type

Habitat............ Towers Dungeons
Disposition......... Chaotic unpredicable
Diet .... Men's Semen

Homonculi are monsters born from twisted magical experiments They are made by sewing the bodies of humans and monsters together into a semblance of a human form and brought to life with stolen spiritual energy Some are created as guardians some are meant to take the place of lost loved ones still others are just experiments of twisted alchemists and magicians

Homonculi share few physical features alike they resemble whatever parts were used to build their bodies and most can make use of the talents of the beasts and monsters that were used to create them so a cautious approach is advised While their movements are slow jerky and clumsy as they struggle with the ungainly nature of their warped body their preternatural strength and limitless stamina make them deadly foes

Mentally Homonculi are even more diverse They contain mixed fragments of the mind and memories not only of the humans and monsters used to make them but also of the creatures whose stolen spirit brought them to life Alternately docile sadistic melancholic manic lustful demure their personality changes wildly and without warning All homonculi however crave human semen as the only way to prolong their unnatural lives and will seduce or attack men to gain it depending on their mindset at the time

HONEYBEE

Bee fam ly   Insect type

Hab tat	Grasslands forests
D spos t on	Gentle devoted
D et	Flower nectar

An insecto d race that l ves n groups centered about a queen bee During the day they fly around n search of flower nectar wh ch serves as the r food They are also charged w th f nd ng human men to become the queen s mate When they f nd a target they jump h m and have sex w th h m to test h s su tab l ty The worker bees are ncapable of reproduct on

Worker bees all carry pots of a spec al nectar on the r h ps Th s nectar s collected from plant type monsters called Alraune In add t on to be ng the queen bee s pr mary food the nectar also acts as a powerful aphrod s ac Before hav ng sex w th a captured man a worker w ll nvar ably smear th s on her partner s body Add t onally they can heal themselves by daub ng t on the r own gen tals It s dangerous to come too close to a worker mmed ately after she heals herself

If another k nd of monster or a human woman approaches the h ve the workers w ll swarm and carry them ns de The fate of those brought ns de th s way s unknown

Once the queen chooses a new husband ownersh p of each other capt ve passes to the worker bee that brought h m n He may be released mmed ately but f h s owner takes a l k ng to h m he s unl kely to ever be set free Honeybees are qu et and gentle and there s never a shortage of food w th n the h ve so th s s not such an unpleasant fate

HORNET

Bee family   Insect type

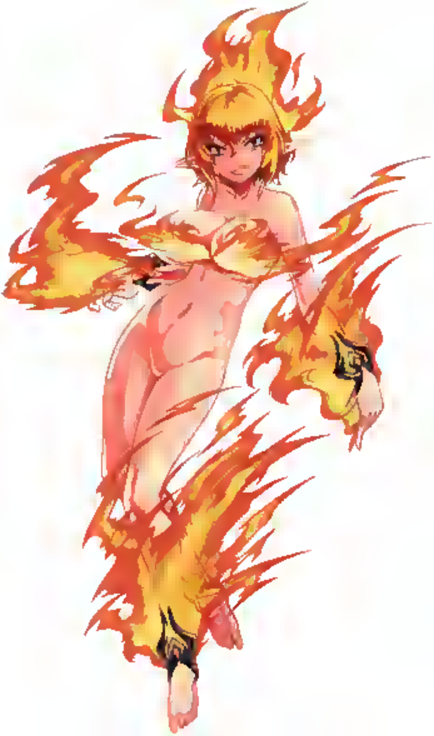
Habitat	Wooded areas
Disposition	Ferocious strong willed
Diet	Small animals and insects

A species of bee that is the largest of all the insectoid races Like the other types of bee hornets live in nests centered about a queen bee

Extremely ferocious they spend their days flying around in search of game When they sight their prey they use the paralytic venom painted on their spears to immobilize the victim then bring it back to the nest

Hornets produce an aphrodisiac venom within their bodies that can induce rut in human men Under its influence they will find the hornets completely irresistable When a hornet finds a man she will first incapacitate him with the paralytic venom then use her abdominal stinger to inject the aphrodisiac venom Once it takes effect she will have sex with him until she is satisfied Afterwards she will take her captive back to the nest as a candidate consort for the queen Rejected candidates become the property of the hornets that brought them in Such a slave is unlikely to be released he will probably spend the rest of his days being used to satisfy his owners lusts

Hornets get along poorly with their honeybee cousins Disputes between the two races usually over men are common



Elemental Family　Elemental Type

イグニス　Ignis

Habitat.　　Volcanic regions desert regions, etc
Disposition...Strong-willed passionate
Diet.　　Men s spirit energy

A fire elemental born from concentrated "fire elements" joined with the "monsters' magical energy." They've become monsters with a woman s form. They are monsters that have raging, passionate dispositions, just like a flame. Many of them inhabit places of comparatively high temperatures like volcanic and desert regions.

They form a pact with a man through the act of sexual intercourse. The man who forms a covenant with an elemental in this way are called "elementalists." It is said that they become able to make use of the Ignis' power over fire. Because of their disposition, normally their rough, violent behavior stands out, but they have a burning love for their covenanter, and to him they show another side of themselves as enthusiastic, passionate lovers.

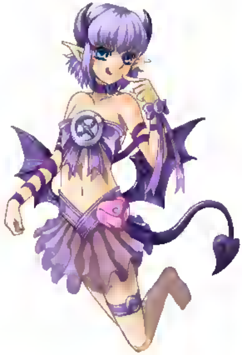
As long as they don't desire to cause damage, the flames that cover their bodies will not burn those who touch them, and neither will it make them feel hot. However, when a person's body becomes enveloped by the flames, it flushes, as they get hot-headed, causing a burning desire for sex with the elemental. After that, intercourse would likely take place as soon as the Ignis gives the invitation.

When they find a man they like, they embrace him with their arms covered in flames and seduce him, afterwards having wild intercourse like s raging flame in order to bind the covenant. Even after binding the covenant, they give in to the burning passion, aggressively seeking intercourse with their covenanter. Through this act, the covenanter receives enough of their power through his body so that he becomes able to use the power of fire. Also, at this time, the elemental is able to receive the covenanter's spirit energy, and her own power is enhanced because of it.

The power of fire usable by the covenanter grows more potent depending on the power of the Ignis. However, at the same time, depending on the amount of spirit energy they take in, the elemental monsters' magical energy grows more condensed and powerful, and when this happens it fuels their flames of passion, causing them to flare up even more wildly. Before long, it grows so hot that they become unable to resist the burning desire they have for their covenanter. They will likely give in to the urge, becoming ferocious monsters that attack and rape their covenanter.

They are "fire elementals" and their contamination equals the contamination of the fire of the natural world. The fire of torch lights that illuminates the darkness, and the flames of the hearth that gently warm the cold will be changed into devilish hellfire that causes the bodies of all humans and monsters to flush, as though they are burning up...as well as giving them a strong thirst. Monsters touched by the flames will be driven wild, s he start to aggressively assault humans. In the same way, humans illuminated by the devilish fire will be converted into incubi and succubi as they fornicate with the wild monsters. Eventually, the human land will be consumed by the flames of the monsters' desire, becoming reborn as a demon realm.

(C)TOKUMA



IMP

Imp family — Demon type

Habitat ..... Hell
Disposition ..... Simple-minded, selfish
Diet ..... Souls of human men

A minor demon native to Hell. Though they were once carnivorous, in recent times they have adopted the lifestyle of the succubi, feeding on the souls of human men. They stop growing early in their lives, and so look like children even as adults. They like to play the part of the child as well, acting foolish and giggling incessantly. In truth they are utterly selfish and care about nothing but their own pleasures, both sexual and sadistic.

They are usually found in groups. When a man passes nearby they will all attack at once, forcing him to the ground even as they fight to be the first to partake of his soul. There are few encounters more dangerous than a swarm of aroused imps. Fortunately they are seldom found outside of Hell.

Because the services of a minor demon comes cheaply, many sorcerers and witches use imps as familiars. A male sorcerer can establish a contract wherein he feeds the imp with small doses of his own spiritual energy. In exchange, the imp serves him as an assistant and bodyguard. If the sorcerer fails to give his familiar her due, she will quite happily rape it out of him. A sorcerer who fails to monitor his own energy levels and becomes too weak to cancel the contract will be at the mercy of the imp, who will slowly drain him of his soul bit by bit over the next few weeks.

Inari

Wolf Family   Beastman Type

Habitat..........Zipangu Region, forests, mountainous areas, human settlements
Disposition...Devoted, Lustful
Diet..............Omnivorous, they love meat

A Beastman type monster with characteristics of a fox that only inhibits the land of Zipangu. They live in forests and mountains, but many of them also change into people and live in human settlements. They're a subspecies of youko, but compared to the youko, they're well behaved. They almost never assault humans. They are extremely friendly to people. Normally, they are very graceful, and they become devoted to the men they love. Lots of men have been captivated by them, choosing to become a married couple and live together.

In this way, they look very well behaved at the surface level. But their level of sexual desire is no different from that of the youko. They are extremely lustful. For the most part, they don't assault their husbands if they aren't in the mood. However, they are excellent at seduction and putting them in the mood, and this often leads to them having their own way. Their tails are symbols of high demonic power. They take in sperm through intercourse with men, storing it as demonic power in their tails. This can continue until they have a maximum of nine tales. You can tell how powerful her lust is by the number of tales. Those individuals with nine tales are remarkably lustful and seductive.

Just as in the case of the youko, the more tails she has, the harder it is for her to contain the vast demonic power within herself. It is continually released around her. They are masters of controlling demonic power, different from the youko which hephazardly releases its power all around. They only channel their demonic power into their own husband. A man infused with demonic power is robbed of his reason and consumed by lust, so it usually results in intercourse with her right there on the spot. Individuals having 9 tails are known as "Kyubi" foxes, and they are said to have almost god-like power. As one might assume, their husbands are infused with vast amounts of demonic energy. The kyubi fox herself is extremely lustful, so they often end up copulating all day long.

Jurougumo

Arachne Family   Insect type

Habitat .... Zipangu Region Forested Areas Human Setlements
Disposition   Gentle Violent, Lustful
Diet .... Carnivorus wild animals etc

A type of Arachne that only inhabits the land of Zipangu Besides inhabiting forested areas they also transform into people and live in human settlements They have a calm personality which is rare in the Arachne family They almost never aggressively assault humans They are very friendly to people especially to men they fancy They take a very flirtatious attitude

As written above they're a docile monster but thats only their face during the daytime By daylight, they approach men and try to engender feelings of fondness. They are masters of the art of seduction More likely than not, men solicited by them will gladly accept However once cohabitation begins in the and period when the sun goes down they expose their night face At night, they are extremely ferocious binding men with the threads produced by their bodies Until dawn comes or the man faints from exhaustion he will be at the mercy of this sadistic monster being repeatedly raped Once the sun comes up they return to their gentle daytime face however most of the men who have had relations with them become spineless Night after night, they will continue to be raped helplessly

Again in the same way as Arachne she uses the threads produced inside her body to build a nest, and is very good at sewing Garments made from their threads are a luxury item, and fetch an extremely high price at market.

Kappa

Sahagin Family   Aquatic Type

Habitat.........Zipangu Region, watery areas like rivers and marshes
Disposition.....Strong-willed, cheerful
Diet.................Omnivorous, prefers meats, fish, fruit, and vegetables (especially cucumbers)

An aquatic type monster that inhabits watery areas like marshes and rivers throughout the land of Zipangu. It's form is very nearly human, but it has green skin and carries a round dish-like object. It has a shell, and webbed feet allowing it to swim effortlessly.

Most of them are very mischievous and have a strong-willed personality, but most of them are not very violent. Kappa children often intermingle and play with human children. But don't let yourself be fooled, they are monsters, and as far as they are concerned, the children they meet are just future marks. Through their socialization with human children, they unconsciously decide who they will have for their future husband. Once they grow a certain amount, their lust suddenly swells up tremendously. They will go into heat, and assanlt the man they targeted dnring childhood in an attempt to force intercourse

Additionally, while their body is wet, their vitality and lust sky rockets, so they are extremely dangerous when fonnd near the water's edge in this period. If they sight their mark approaching the water's edge, they will drag him in immediately and try to initiate sexnal interconrse. One must be very cautious

The dishes they carry on their heads are always wet with water. The dish is their weak point. If it drys up, not only will she lose strength, but she'll also become extremely sensitive to stimnlation. Tonch the area, and she'll no longer be able to move

Kesaran Pasaran

Mandragora Family Plant Type

Habitat ——— Unknown
Disposition ——— Cheerful, Meek
Diet ——— Men's Semen

A plant type monster with a body covered in something like white balls of fluff. Its body is extremely light, and it moves by floating through the air. It's mature form has the shape of a human, but while developing, they are little more than tiny white balls of fluff. Because they look mysterious while dancing through the air, they are called "Kesaran Pasaran who invite happiness." If you catch one, it is said to bring about happiness.

Exactly opposite of what you might suppose from their nick name, their fluff balls are actually powerful hallucinogenic compounds that are extremely dangerous to people. If you breathe one in, your ability to think will become limited, and all you'll want to do is "feel happy." However, while they're still developing, the hallucinogenic effect is weak, and so often times it just makes you feel "a little better." That's probably how they got the nick name.

When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they descend towards him and scatter fluff in a pollen form so that he will breathe it in. Afterwards, they seek intercourse with the man for their own nourishment and to become able to make seeds. While overwhelmed by the hallucinations, the man perceives this act itself as an extension of his happiness, and instead of resisting, he offers his own body in pursuit of even more happiness. Overcome with happiness in this way, he'll end up just continuing to copulate with them.

Through having intercourse with men in this fashion, they produce their seeds. Then they wrap them in part of their fluff and send it flying through the sky. After being launched into the sky, they drift gently while growing, eventually ending up in their mature form, the shape of a human. Believing the stories about "Kesaran Pasaran who invite happiness," many men have caught them in their developing stage, and then ended up being attacked after they mature.

It's an extremely rare monster, so there aren't many reports of sightings. Since they fly around everywhere, their habitat is indistinct. According to one theory, they were originally plants in the "fairy kingdom," but nothing is known for certain.

Elemental Family Element Type

狐火 (キツネビ) Kitsune-bi

Habitat ..... Unclear (near areas where yoko and inan live)
Disposition ..... Lustful simple
Diet ..... Human men's spirit energy

A monster covered with wavering flames possessing the characteristics of a fox. They're born when vast amounts of condensed demonic energy and excessive lust from either "yoko" or "inari" takes shape and changes into a monster, so they're close to elementals. Lots of them live near yoko and inari with many tails. As for inari, in the same way that they use their demonic energy, they don't produce kitsune-bi without thinking it through...but just as yoko are always scattering around demonic energy in the same way, they produce large amounts of kitsune-bi and release them nearby.

That which comprises them exists at the foundation of fox monsters. They are clumps of pure, powerful desire. For that reason, soon after they're born, the only thing they're conscious of is a powerful urge to have sex with men and indulge in pleasure and spirit energy. They don't have a distinct consciousness or sense of self as individuals. For that reason, the only things compelling their behavior are the desires "I wanna get off" "I want spirit energy." It follows that they'll probably try to sexually assault man.

However, after their first time having sex with a human man, changes become apparent. After actually touching and tasting a man's body, they start to feel affectionate towards that particular man. Their desires which were vague before then become more concrete, such as "I want to get off with this man" "I want this man's spirit energy."

New desires unrelated to pleasure, or spirit energy also emerge such as "I want to spend time with this man" "I want to be close to this man" "I want this man's everything" and they begin to grasp the concept of choosing a particular man and becoming a couple.

The lust for sex which is the foundation of their being also changes into something more concrete, and at the same time, they will grow bigger, stronger, and even more lascivious. They were vague clumps of demonic energy, but by having sex with a man, they gain a fixed existence as individual monster females.

Also, kitsune-bi who don't have men are vague existences, so it's easy for them to become tied with the desire of human women, so they try to possess and fuse with them. Women possessed by them are called "kitsune-tsuki." It is said that they transform into monsters whose body and heart are both ruled by the fox's desire.

Additionally, there's no difference between kitsune-bi produced by yoko or inari. Their disposition and lustfulness is exactly the same. Though both races have different natures and dispositions, from this point, the enormity of their lust is the same, in either case, so we can say the true essence of both races is the same thing.

http://kurabine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クラビネ

Main Family　Main Type

狐憑き（キツネツキ） Kitsune-tsuki

Habitat ..... Human settlements
Disposition ..... Lustful, various
Diet ..... Eats the same things as humans; Human men's spirit energy

Human women who were possessed by "kitsune-bi" and became monsters. Their consciousness and memories from when they were human are preserved, and they still look the same as humans, but the fox's desire dwells within them, ruling their hearts and bodies, so they change into alluring women with a fascinating sex appeal who are lustful like the fox monsters.

Women possessed by kitsune-bi, experience small changes at first such as an increased interest in sex, a preference for meat...and fried tofu, and they also become more aggressive towards men. Afterwards, gradually, whenever they look at a man, they feel a need for something, and their body throbs. They start having dirty thoughts, and before long, their lust swells up, and they start to strongly yearn for a man. At the same time, their appearance and personalities change, enabling them to charm and tempt men. They end up having a voluptuous atmosphere, just like a yoko or man. They gain joy and self confidence as they change into attractive women in this way, so no matter how timid and shy the woman was originally, she'll be able to arouse, and ignite men's desire with her words and mannerisms, and easily imprison and have sex with the man she's after.

Normally, the kitsune-tsuki live lustfully according to desire, polishing their charm and lasciviousness, they end up as yōko-like kitsune-tsuki. There are especially lots of these kinds of kitsune-tsuki around high rank yōko. They're a part of the debauchery produced by yoko. On the other hand, the miko of the "inari cult" that worships inari as gods sometimes have themselves changed into kitsune-tsuki directly by a inari as a way of getting closer to the inari. In this case, they are trained and educated thoroughly by the inari so that their body and heart grow accustomed to the inari's desire and demonic energy.

They end up becoming inari-like kitsune-tsuki that have two faces, whore and dignified lady. The source of the kitsune-bi has nothing to do with this change in disposition. For example, suppose for some reason an inari's demonic energy went out of control and formed a kitsune-bi and a kitsune-tsuki was born from it in a place totally unknown to the inari. In that case, the kitsune-tsuki would live according to the fox's desire, growing to be almost completely like a yōko.

Many kitsune-tsuki spend their entire lives as kitsune-tsuki, however, although it is exceedingly rare, in the case of individuals who were originally powerful by nature, or those who had sex with men a countless number of times and stored a vast amount of demonic energy, yoko-like kitsune-tsuki have transformed into yōko, and inari-like kitsune-tsuki have transformed into inari.

You can see fox-like ears and tail in this illustration of a kitsune-tsuki, but normally humans are unable to see them. The only ones who can see them are they themselves, and the men who are the objects of their love and desire that have had sex with them. The changes that occur after becoming a kitsune-tsuki just makes the woman look a bit peculiar to other people. Sadly, the only ones who will ever know their true nature are their prisoners, the men who have been defanged. For that reason, even if they dwell in human settlements found in regions that are hostile towards monsters, many of them spend their days indulging in pleasure, and the love they share with their husbands with those around being none the wiser.

クノイチ Succubus Family Demon Type Kunoichi

Habitat ..... Zipangu Region (Mountainous areas human settlements)
Disposition ..... Devoted calm poor expression of emotions
Diet ..... Human men's spirit energy

A type of succubs who have undergone a peculiar development that live in villages called "shinobi no sato" deep within mountains and other places people don't come near. "Kunoichi" were originally human ninja women, but when the demon lord took over some of them were changed into succubi originating the "kunoichi" as monsters. Their wings have atrophied but compared to the original type their physical abilities are extremely high and they excel at swift, agile movement. Their long slender yet powerful tail isn't just used for binding and carrying their prey it also serves as a grappling hook allowing them to freely move on walls and ceilings. They're brought up with various training from childhood so they excel at secret techniques and martial arts. They use spells called "ninpo" such as "bunshin no jutsu" etc. to perplex opponents. Being highly capable succubi they're also adept at bedroom techniques for pleasing men. They are renowned as a first rate secret organization and kunoichi are dispatched from shinobi no sato as mercenaries to serve prominent monsters and humans from monster friendly territories not just in Zipangu but throughout the entire world.

Normally they perform a variety of missions as scouts and spies etc. but those with plenty of experience are given missions of the greatest importance. "assassination missions." Their objectives are mainly to neutralize targets that are men of anti-monster territories. Although they call it assassination, they don't actually take lives. No matter how fortified the castle a kunoichi on a mission can sneak into the bedroom without anyone noticing and have sex with her target. They continue to train their body and bedroom skills on a daily basis all for that moment when they defang their targets claiming his heart for their own. If the man was an important person she'll be able to freely manipulate him by coming in love and pleasure. The man will be so charmed by the kunoichi who is a monster that he'll betray the anti-monster forces switch to the monsters side and try to change the anti-monster territory into a monster friendly territory from within.

After completing a "monster style assassination" in this way they regard the men they enthrall as their lords and stay by their sides as loyal attendants. With love and devotion they aid their lord's plans for converting into a monster friendly territory.

After that if the man has finished his role or finds himself in great danger, or if the target wasn't an important person to begin with he'll be taken back to shinobi no sato as a husband for the sake of producing children effectively wiping him completely from human society. These missions are one of the most important things in their lives. They are the goal they yearn to achieve. All of the kunoichi grow up dreaming of these missions for seizing a beloved man of their very own. It's not an exaggeration to say that all the training they do from childhood is all for the sake of these missions. Furthermore if they take a liking to a man in the middle of an ordinary mission that man will become the mark for their future assassination mission. Since it'll take priority even over assassination missions requested by shinobi no sato those other than important men of anti-monster territories can't let their guard down. After getting their hands on a man the kunoichi prioritize having sex with their men every day so many of them retire from the scene focusing on producing and rearing children.

Furthermore many of them are reticent, and don't express very much outward emotion, but it seems this is because the founders of the kunoichi passed down the teaching "One should only reveal one's true heart and feelings in front of a husband that one truly loves."

http://kurobine-sakura.ne.jp (C)

LAMIA

Lamia family Reptile type

Habitat	Deserts, caves in warm regions, mountains
Disposition	Varies wildly, most are very strong
Diet	Animal flesh

Monsters with the upper body of a human and the lower body of a snake Highly intelligent and individualistic some form villages of their own kind while others live alongside humans

Those who live the lamia-only villages (the so-called wild lamia) lurk around roads that humans travel Keeping under cover so that only their human upper body is visible, a lamia will use her sweet magically charming voice to entice human men that come walking along She then traps the enraptured man within her serpentine coils, and uses him to satisfy her body's sexual desires Afterwards if she is pleased with her catch she will bring him home and marry him whether he likes it or not

All lamia go through a fixed cycle of shedding Like a molting snake a lamia casts off the skin of her lower body Caution is necessary immediately after shedding a lamia will be in a state of extreme lust A man who carelessly approaches her will be knocked down and immobilized she will have her way with him until she tires

Lamia are extremely jealous and vindictive If a lamia's husband is unfaithful to her it is said that she will not rest until she has strangled him to death even if she must pursue him to the ends of the earth

LARGE MOUSE

Mouse family Beastman type

Habitat ...... Sewers caves dnngeons
Disposition Impatient, ill natured
Diet ...... Omnivorous eats anything

A beastman type monster has a small body bnild and the characteristics of a rat Likes dark and moist places and nsually fonnd in dnngeons Their size is no larger than the average hnman child and while they aren t strong by themselves they are very nimble and a pack of them can bring down a prey several times their size They are monsters who can t never remain calm and can nsnally be found running around in circles for no reason at all

They occasionally appear in human villages to steal their food and to mate as they can only do it with a human male Large monses also have a pecular trait, where they would bring the hnman male back into their den surround him and take turns to mate with him In the event that there are too many of them and too little men the yonnger large monses would form a new gronp and hnnt for more men in the village

Also as rats are nsnally nsed as targets for magic practices these large monses have developed the ability to store powerful magic in their bodies While they can t cast any spells the magics that have been stored in their bodies can be nsed as poison which is transferred via biting In the case of a hnman male victim or a grown np woman the magic would jnst diffuse inside their bodies right after they were bit However for young hnman girls they will get a fever before fainting down while at the same time her body would undergo physical changes by itself By the time she s awake she wonld have already become a large monse

In summary the large monse is a species who work in gronps and places mating as their top priority

Leanan Sidhe

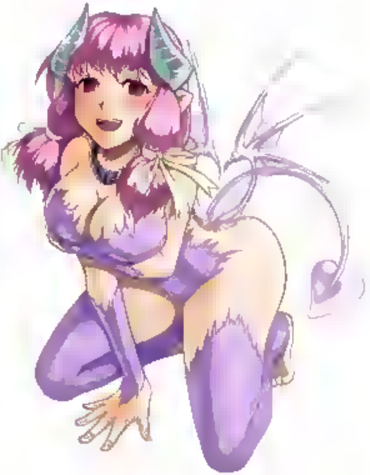
Fairy Family — Fairy Type

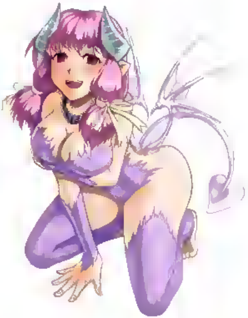
Habitat ...... Forests, Human Settlements
Disposition ... Devoted, Meek
Diet .... Great Works of Art

A type of fairy with a peculiar personality. It lives in forests with other kinds of fairies, but a few are also known to change into human form and live in human settlements from time to time. It loves works of art like pictures, music, and stories. Charmed by those, it appears before humans.

They have an extremely unique diet. They are fueled by touching great works of art. Also, they are very aggressive in romantic pursuits. When they find a male artist they like, they will actively try to seduce him. They have the body of a little girl, but a subtle charm magic is always being released from their body, so the men they target always feel extremely attracted to them. It is extremely difficult to elude their seduction. Also, a certain number of Leanan Sidhe have been twisted by the influence of the succubi, causing them to turn violent. So there are some who will assault men, forcing intercourse.

A man who has sex with a Leanan Sidhe has his creative abilities and talents for art skyrocket. Thanks to this power, most such men have become rich and famous. However, their minds are gradually twisted by the charm magic. Eventually, they can think of nothing other than her, and producing works of art to give to her. Eventually, the fame brought about by their works becomes a curse, and they go off somewhere with her and disappear. According to one explanation, they have been taken away to the "Kingdom of Fairies." It is said that once there, they will produce works of art for her and continue to make love exclusively.





LESSER SUCCUBUS

Succubus family Demon type

Habitat	Hell
Disposition	Lustful
Diet	Souls of human men

A human woman who has received a succubus's magic power and is starting to change into a succubus herself. Just like a succubus, they have sex with human men to absorb their souls for food. For a more detailed description of a succubus's traits and abilities, refer to the appropriate page.

The main differences from a succubus are: shorter horns, thinner smaller wings, a smaller tail, and fur covering various parts of the body. The fur helps to protect her body during the time. A lesser succubus can use magic to enchant her own body, adapting it to a form suitable for seducing any particular man.

When a human woman first becomes a lesser succubus, her sexual desire and her body's sensitivity will both rise to extreme levels, leaving her enormously hungry for sex. The desires of a lesser succubus are so strong that her human mind cannot bear them, driving her to frantically hunt down human men to satisfy herself with. As she absorbs human souls, her mind and body will continue to transform until she becomes a full succubus. Once she becomes a succubus, whatever her base personality and memories were as a human, they will be replaced with the values common to all full succubi, driven by extreme lust to seek out pleasure.

There is no known way to restore a succubus to her original human form. If a former lover is encountered as a succubus, there is no way to help her; it is best to escape immediately. Succubi have a tendency to carry off men they favor, taking them back to Hell, and if a succubus meets a man she loved while she was human, she will almost certainly abduct him in this way.

• Succubus Family • Demon Type

1116 Lilim

Habitat.....Demon realm
Disposition...Lustful
Diet.....Spirit energy of human men

A general term for the daughters of the demon lord who possess both incredible magic power, and beauty that captivates men and won't let them go. They have pale skin and pure white hair, which they share in common with the demon lord, and red eyes full of demonic energy.

Other than that, their looks and personalities all vary depending on the individual...but all of the lilim have a lustful personality, and their heads are full of nothing but thoughts of sex, as is becoming of a succubus. They have a deep love for all men and monsters, and they want nothing other than for humans and monsters to live together in harmony, seeking each other's bodies and lustfully having sex. To them, that is the ideal form of human-monster relations, and that is what they like more than anything else.

They have the greatest power of all succubi, but even if they don't use their power for charm spells, almost all men would become their prisoner after only catching a glimpse of their visage. Even without using words of temptation, men are aroused at the sight of them and consumbe by total lust. If they tempt a man, even without magic, there is no element of force even necessary. The men themselves will step forward and offer their bodies, desiring to be ravished by them. It is said that even if a man charmed by them had been a monster hating devout follower of the chief god only moments earlier, from then on he would be eagerly looking forward to the devilish pleasure they can offer.

They have the power to rule over many men, but no matter what, their goal is the same as that of most of the other monsters and their own mother, the demon lord: to find the one man they love most in all the world and always be strongly longing for one another and lustfully having sex. All they want is to become one with their ideal husband.

Just like the demon lord, they are beings that have the demonic energy of all the monsters in the world contained within their bodies. Just like the demon lord, they have the ability to cause human women to be reborn as any kind of monster through having sex, as long as the race is under the demon lord's command. In order to create an ideal world, they will aggress vely try to convert human women into monsters. The race the women end up getting changed into varies depending on the individual, the time, and other circumstances. Sometimes the women are changed into a monster that suits their personality and ideals, but most of the time the lilim decide the race depending on their mood.

They are the symbol of the demon lord's power. The more their numbers increase, it means the more sex the demon lord has had with her husband, and the more vast the power she has built up becomes. Also by continuing to have sex with their husbands she build up power, the world becomes more saturated with the succubus' demonic energy. This has the function of maintaining the present system of the demon lord and monsters. If they are raised into succubi of enormous power as successors of the demon lord, then even if the demon lord were to be destroyed by the chief god...the world would still be full of their demonic energy. The current world of carnal relations between humans and monsters could still be maintained.

LIZARDMAN

L zard Fam ly   Rept le Type

Hab tat   Caves
D spos t on   Strong w lled and Stubborn
D et   Carn vorous W ld An mals etc

Phys cally strong qu ck tempered and able to use nearly any weapon many members of th s l zardl ke race tra n as warr ors They prefer to l ve n caves however t s common for a l zardman s tra n ng to br ng her all around the world For th s reason they can be found n a var ety of places

Desp te the r aggress ve nature l zardmen do not normally attack humans However   f a chance met human descr bes h mself as a warr or a l zardman w ll challenge h m to a test of the r ab l t es Even f he loses she won't go as far as to take h s l fe However l zardmen des re strong husbands   f he w ns she may offer to marry h m If he turns her down she s l kely to follow h m around unt l he changes h s m nd

As written above l zardmen are mostly safe monsters But because most nd v duals are strong w lled and have great pr de f encountered one must be careful not to anger them

Mandragora

Mandragora Family   Plant Type

Habitat...... Plains, Forests
Disposition ...Timid
Diet.............Men's semen, nutrients from the earth

A plant monster in the form of a woman with roots. The parts corresponding to the roots are buried deep within the earth. They only push out the flower on their head to the surface of the ground. They wait for their prey, which is lured by the sweet fragrance released from the flower petals, to come and pull them up.

When a man uproots them, they let out shrill screams containing magical power. Those who have heard such screams will lose their ability to reason temporarily. Guided by instinct, they will probably sexually assault the mandragora before them. When a man starts fucking them, they use their roots to wrap around him so that he can't escape later. Even after the man's ability to reason returns, he probably won't be able to get away until he gives his seed. Because their screams not only affect the man who uprooted them, but also other men and monsters nearby, it is necessary to be on the look out for all those who lost their reason, turning ferocious. Of course, a man who uprooted one would also be attacked by the other nearby monsters, if present.

Furthermore, once they're uprooted and they let out their scream, they lose all their magical power, so even if they scream after that, it won't cause anyone to lose their reason. In this way, they are powerless once uprooted. Since they have extremely timid personalities, they almost never attack humans on their own.

Also, the tips of their roots are treasured as ingredients for stamina increasing drugs, aphrodisiacs, and various other powerful magic medicines. Because these parts continue to extend as they are fed, it's not uncommon for people to raise them.

During their larval stage they are buried within the earth. Absorbing nutrients from the soil, their bodies are formed. The growth of their body stops once they are pulled from the earth. For this reason, by pulling them out at earlier and earlier periods, their form appears more and more like that of a child.

• Mantis Family • Insect Type

マンティス Mantis

Habitat..... Forests
Disposition...Cold emotionless (later cold lustful)
Diet..... Meat, wild animals etc.

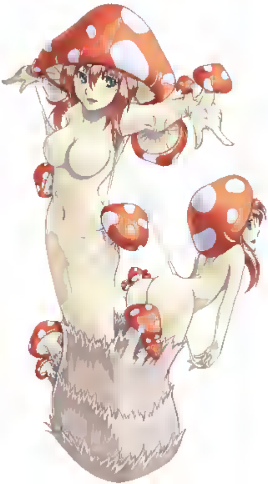
An insect type monster distinguished by the huge scythes equipped on both of its arms. They dwell deep in the forest, using the scythes on their arms to quickly bring down wild animals etc. and eat them. Because of their appearance they are also called "assassins of the forest," and feared.

It's very rare for a monster, but should they encounter a human man not only will they not attack, they won't indicate any interest whatsoever. In fact, they couldn't care less. Their expression is always fixed, and they don't feel anything like emotion. Nothing can stir their hearts. They live every day "just to survive." For that reason, they don't take any interest in anything that isn't necessary for their survival. Since they can't even eat a human man, to them, they are completely worthless.

However, since they are indeed monsters, they do need human men, but only during mating season. During mating season, they try to attack and seize human men, but no matter what, they only view them as a tool for reproduction. When they seize a human men, they skillfully shred only the man's clothing to pieces with the two scythes on their arms, and go about initiating intercourse with indifference. It's said that during this time, even right before they're about to receive a man's penis inside their own body, they don't indicate any emotion whatsoever.

However, from the moment they feel it inside, everything about them changes. After they've had sex with a men, they are mesmerized by the pleasure they tasted, and are overcome with joy and happiness, as though their emotionless state until then had been a lie. At that moment, for the first time, they realize how good it feels to have sex with human men, and just how endearing men are to them. In this way, after they've had sex with a human man even once, they totally become prisoners of sex with men, awakening to their true nature as monsters seeking sex and pleasure.

After that, they don't just live to survive. They start to live for the sake of living together with their men and having sex. Once they knew the taste of a man, they'll never let him go after their first time having sex. Their scythes will end up being used to protect their man, and hunt for him. And then, as though their former self was a lie, they'll have sex with their men every night and enjoy the pleasure like a monster. Afterwards, they go back to their emotionless state just like before, but they do blush faintly when around their husbands, and you can likely see their lips forming into a smile just barely.



MATANGO

Matango fam-ly Plant type

Hab tat — Forests
D spos t on — Gentle
D et — Nutr ents from the ground semen of human men

A race of woman shaped mushrooms that l ve n the damper parts of some forests They absorb nutr ents from the earth and large trees through the r roots though these same roots also prevent them from mov ng from place to place   Furthermore the nutr ents they suck from the earth are l m ted and must be conserved so matango spend most of the r l ves sleep ng

Matango per od cally release clouds of spores When a human man nhales these spores they germ nate n h s body grow ng nto mushrooms that w ll gradually take over h s m nd   Under the r control he w ll seek out the matango who released the spores Upon arr v ng he w ll have sex w th the matango repeatedly wh le she absorbs h s semen ga n ng ten m nutes of wak ng t me for each ejaculat on   Clouds of spores em tted dur ng the act w ll br ng h m even deeper under the matango s control   If the sex thrall s not rescued the spores w ll beg n to grow on the outs de of h s body as well as the ns de He w ll eventually become a m ndless mushroom man   completely covered everywhere but the part the matango needs h m for

Should a woman nhale the spores the effect s d fferent The mushrooms w ll send her sex dr ve sp ral ng out of control unt l she beg ns attack ng men at random   Absorb ng the semen she collects the mushrooms w ll mult ply rap dly   Before long they w ll replace her body altogether turn ng her nto a matango

If a s ngle woman n a small v llage were to nhale a matango s spores the ent re town would be noth ng but matango and mushroom men n a surpr s ngly short span of t me

Medusa

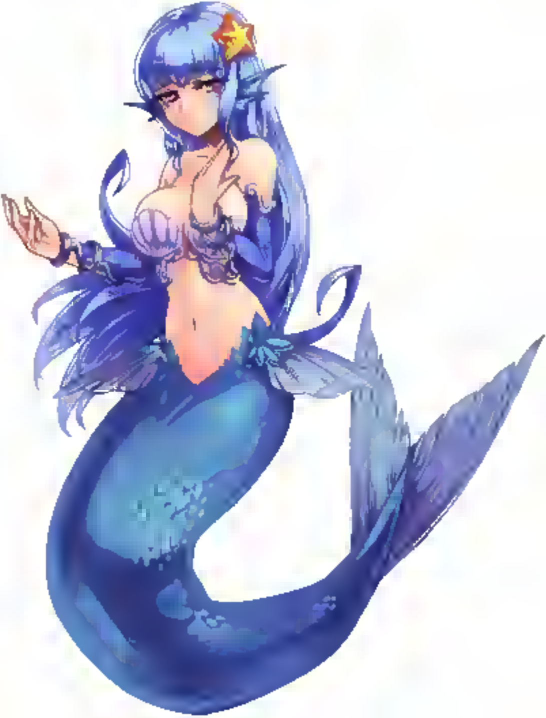
Lamia Family   Reptile Type

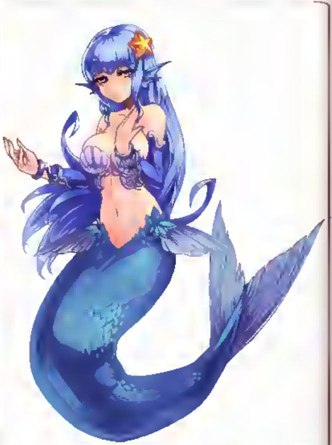
Habitat ....Caves, towers, dungeons, etc
Disposition .... Strong-willed, stubborn
Diet. . . . . . . .Carnivorous, animal meat, etc

A high level type of lamia, which possesses the upper body of a human woman and the lower body of a snake. They are very few in number, so they mostly live by themselves. For that reason, it is said that despite being awfully lonesome, they have prideful, strong-willed personalities.

They possess the ability to cause the body of whomever they gaze at to harden like stone. Besides catching their prey animals with this ability, they also use it to stop a man from moving so they can drag him back to their lair as their husband for reproduction when they find a man who strikes their fancy. They also use this ability during sex. Only the man's limbs are petrified to prevent him from moving. They also are likely to try to restrain him with their snake bodies while forcing intercourse. Living things petrified by their ability never die from it. It can be healed if the medusa undoes it herself, or with one of the magic items or medicines circulating through the market place. Also, if they leave a man petrified without choosing him as a husband, another monster seeking a man will probably take him away.

A medusa's hair turns into snakes from the middle. Each of them can move freely, but since they share the same will as the medusa, if she isn't hostile, there's probably no worry of being attacked. They are stubborn and pretty much never show their true feelings, but the snake hairs are different from the main body. They are straight-forward, just the opposite of the stubborn main body, they will aggressively wrap themselves around a man they like and snuggle up, so it is possible to discern the true heart of the medusa from the behavior of the snakes. Also, just like the lamia, they are extremely jealous by nature, so be careful.





Mermaid Family Fish Type

マーメイド Mermaid

Habitat.........Ocean
Disposition.....Gentle, naive
Diet............Omnivorous, mostly seaweed and seafood

A fish type monster that lives in the ocean. Also called "ningyo." They have one of the most gentle dispositions of all the monsters. They never aggressively attack humans, and are a very friendly race.

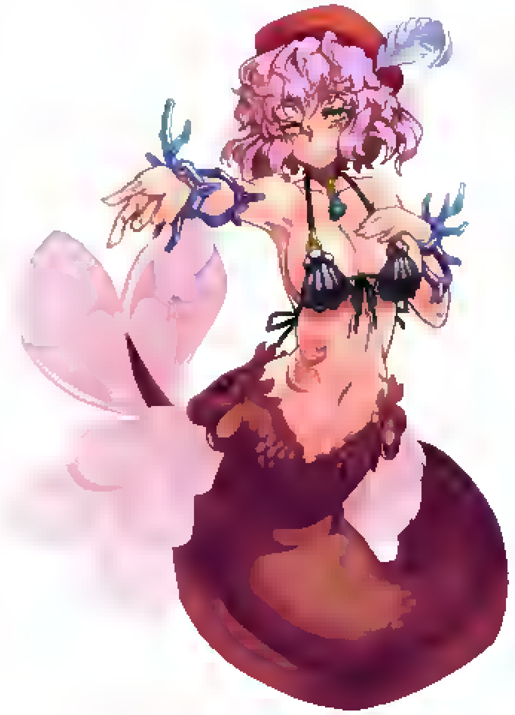
Most of them are hopeless romantics, and they're always waiting for the man who will become their husband. They appear at beaches and on top of reefs, and dreaming of their yet unseen "princes," they sing in a beautiful voice. Their singing voices contain magical power, and men who hear the songs are completely charmed. They get dizzy and are drawn back to them, and then they end up having a destined meeting with them as their "princes." They're not a race that aggressively attacks humans like other monsters, however, once they do get a man, they're aggressive about sex and use their monstrous bodies to charm him. They strongly charm the man and will probably never let him go.

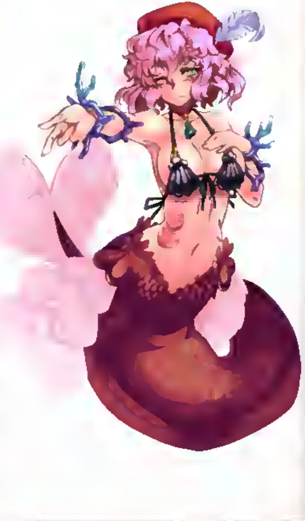
Also, their "mermaid's blood" has the effect of dramatically increasing the lifespan. It is said that it has this function to make a man's lifespan match her own because a mermaid's lifespan is longer than a human's. Without exception, their husbands will be made to drink this blood.

Furthermore, because of the effect of the "mermaid's blood," it is in extremely high demand among humans seeking eternal youth and longevity, and other monsters who need to extend the lives of their husbands in the same way. The merrow of the same mermaid family is actually the main source of traded mermaid blood, and its blood is in high circulation among the monsters. However, among the humans it is quite rare, so there are many humans who are after mermaids for their blood.

Translated at www.MonsterGirlUnlimited.com

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ





おちんちん たべる？

・マーメイド種　・魚類型

メロウ　Merrow

Habitat..........Ocean
Disposition.....Warm, lustful
Diet...............Omnivorous, kelp, fish ect.
(Spirit energy for those with human men.)

A type of mermaid that lives in the sea whose special trait is the hat it wears on its head. They resemble "mermaids" and in the same way, they are a race that is friendly towards humans. However, they are different from the mermaids which have comparatively docile personalities. Even among the mermaid family, they're known as the "most lustful" race. When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they'll probably use every part of their body to seduce him, and aggressively try to initiate sex.

Purportedly "even the insides of their heads are pink," and their main interest is sex and romantic affairs with human men. They also peep on the romantic affairs and sex of other monsters, and they like having amorous and obscene discussions. Of course the thing that they enjoy most of all is spending time with their lovers and having sex. When they've fallen in love with a man from the bottom of their heart, they only have eyes for him, and all they can think about is sex with him.

Also, they always wear a hat when they're unmarried. When they make a marriage proposal to a man who strikes their fancy, they entrust the hat to the man. The hat carries the protection of the sea god "Poseidon." The magical power that they need to live in the ocean is contained within it. For that reason, when they lose their hats, they lose that magical power, and they become unable to even swim, but they regain it through the spirit energy they consume during sex with their husband.

In this way, they end up becoming entirely dependent on their husbands, it is a strong indication of their will to always be with their husband and never seperate. When a new merrow is born, she is given a hat by "Poseidon" and the "sea bishops" who serve him. Since the power sealed in the hat uses the mother's power, the husband must transfer a lot of spirit energy to the mother each time a child is born.

Also, in the same way as mermaids, they possess the "mermaid's blood" which greatly increases the lifespan of those who drink it. The blood is treasured by monsters who need it to increase the lifespan of their husbands, but it's said the source of distribution is mostly from the merrows. Using the blood, they trade for various things that other monsters possess such as medicines, and accessories. Besides that, they love erotic tales, and often give thanks to other monsters who tell them such stories by offering up blood. For that reason, "mermaid's blood" almost never appears on the market for humans, but for the monsters, there is ample supply.

http://kurobine-sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

MIMIC

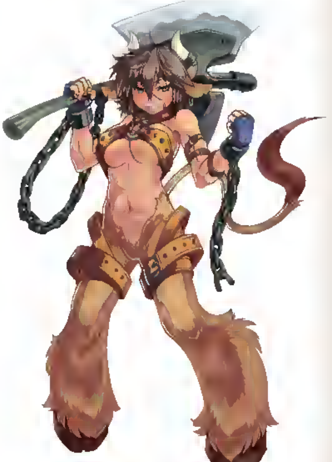
Mimic family — Shapeshifter type

Habitat	Towers and caves, anywhere chests can be found
Disposition	Cheerful, pushy
Diet	Souls of human men

A variety of shapeshifter that takes the form of a treasure chest. They lurk in places with lots of other chests and wait for a victim to show up. Mimics have an uncanny ability to plant themselves in just those areas where a human will soon stumble across them. It is not known how they are able to make such predictions. Mimics usually prefer towers, caves and other dungeons, but have been found in castles and even private homes.

Though they are not demons, mimics share the succubus' ability to feed on the souls of men they have sex with. When a suitable target passes by, a mimic will burst out of her chest and unleash paralysis or charm spells to subdue her victim. She will then have sex with him and absorb his soul. If she decides she likes her new mate enough to keep him, she will pull him into the chest and vanish. If the chest is reopened, it will be empty. It's believed that the mimic brings her now-soulless mate into an alternate dimension, where she can continue to have her way with him undisturbed. This has not been confirmed.

A mimic's weakness is her keyhole. If a key is thrust into the opening before the mimic jumps out, she will be ejected from her own chest. Once separated, she can no longer use magic and can be captured easily.



Minotaurus

Minotaurus Family Beastman Type

Habitat ......Plains, Caves, and Dungeons like Labyrinths
Disposition ...Strong-willed, Ferocious
Diet ......Various meats, mainly prefers meat.

A kind of beastman monster that possesses characteristics of a cow. It's also a monster warrior that possesses immense strength, able to swing its massive weapon around effortlessly. It's personality is extremely rough, it doesn't think things through, instead being driven solely by emotion. Thus, it is an extremely dangerous monster.

It's extremely violent, and when it eyes a man that strikes its fancy it rushes him almost like it's doing a charging attack, and forcibly initiates sexual intercourse. Once they capture a man, they enjoy frequently raping him. They enjoy furious sex, and will put a man through the ordeal until he collapses and passes out. Also of note, they get aroused when they see anything red, and become even more violent, so if you're wearing red clothing, being targeted by them is almost a sure thing. One must be careful.

As stated, they are extremely dangerous monsters. However, many men actually encounter them while they're asleep. Most of their daily schedule is actually occupied by sleep. After feeding, and after having had intercourse with their prey, most of them just fall asleep on the spot. At this point, they won't awaken from small things. Also, they tend to get irritated with other things quickly. It's rare for them to have any interest in anything other than eating, sex, or sleep.

MUMMY

Zombie Family   Undead Type

Habitat .... Desert regions, ruins, ect.
Disposition ...... Simple
Diet .... Men's semen

A type of undead that inhabits desert regions, ruins, ect. In the same way as the zombie, it was reanimated by the demon lord's magical energy dwelling within its body. Its personality and memories from when it was among the living remain, however, starving mummies lose their rationality and act on instinct, so they are extremely dangerous.

They are always overwhelmed with the feeling that their bodies are dried out, so they attack men in order to take in semen through sexual intercourse. After having taken in semen, their rationality and intellect increase, causing them to become temporarily docile, however, their bodies are insatiable, so they get hungry again soon. Because they continue to need a man, once caught, a man would be unlikely to be freed.

Another thing, they are also known to attack women as well, and in that case, the woman would have all the magical energy of her body sucked out, and would end up becoming a "mnmmy" herself. Women transformed into mnmmies in this way are the same as other mummies. Because of the lack of magical energy, they feel hungry, dry, and will assault men.

Furthermore, their skin is extremely weak to stimulation. Even jnsf from being touched, they feel an extreme rush of pleasure. Upon receiving such stimulation, the pleasure would be too great, and they may become temporarily paralyzed. In order to prevent this, they cover their whole bodies in special bandages that curtail the pleasurable feelings. For that reason when you encounter a mummy, if you can nndo the bandages, you can stop her from moving, and escape would then become a simple affair.

• Cat-Family • Beastman Type

ネコマタ Nekomata

Habitat.........Zipangu region (Forests, human settlements)
Disposition.....Cheerful, whimsical
Diet............Omnivorous, spirit energy of human men

A kind of werecat living within the Zipangu region. Filled with a high level of magical power, her tail has split into two. Her magical power has allowed her to take the form of a mundane cat. In Zipangu, where monsters and humans live in peace, she usually takes her true form, but either form can be seen there.

She often spies on men she's taken a liking to, while disguised as a cat. She comes up close to him and charms him using her magic. Men who are kind and generous will surely be made into targets. She follows the usual "Run when he comes close, come closer when he runs" thought process. In addition, she may approach the man on her own. If he backs away, she'll give up hope immediately, but if the two are comfortable with each other, she'll stay close to him. She will also rub up to him to coat him with her own scent, to keep other monsters away from her prey.

Yet, she's still a monster, so her true nature can't be hidden for long while so close to a male. Eventually, she will assault her prey. In that case, the longer she waits (usually about a month) the more violent she becomes. Her desire for the man will be unleashed as her warm body becomes joined with his, and she takes some of his spirit energy.

It is believed that "a cat that lives for many years gains magic and becomes a nekomata". This is wrong. If a cat absorbs demonic energy they become a nekomata. In some cases, the cat may have been a nekomata from the very start.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

Nereid

Succubus Family Aquatic Type

Habitat ....Ocean
Disposition ....Lustful, calm
Diet.............Man's spirit energy

Aquatic monsters known as "daughters of the sea." They're a kind of a sea-loving succubus that inhabits the ocean. Women who drown in the ocean and have their bodies completely violated by the magical power of the sea god "Poseidon" are changed into nereids. Normally they are calm like the sea, and free-spirited, but when they have sex with a man they go wild like a stormy sea and indulge in the pleasure.

When human women are changed into "nereids," from having their whole body violated by Poseidon's magical power, they are overcome with waves of strong pleasure and sexual impulses. Due to this, the restraint and repression they had as humans is completely swept away. They get a sense of freedom that they never experienced as humans, and become filled with happiness. And then their body and heart become mamono, and they start thinking of life in the sea as the ultimate happiness. If a woman who was changed into a nereid had a man she loved on dry land, she will change herself into a human form, and go onto land to seek him out. Then, using her mamono transformed body, she will seduce the man, and sink him into the depths of pleasure, as if he were sinking to the bottom of the sea. After capturing the man in this way, the two of them will return to the sea.

Nereids who bring back men fundamentally just keep having sex at the bottom of the sea, but unmarried nereids who haven't gotten a man come up near the surface of the water, so they are very dangerous beings. Besides trying to drag men they like into the sea, they do the same to women in an attempt to change them into nereids in order to share the feelings of liberation and happiness that they have obtained.

Nightmare

Centaur Family　　Beastman Type

Habitat... ... Unknown
Disposition ... Cowardly Weak, Lustful
Diet .... Men s Semen

A type of beastman monster that has the upper body of a woman and the lower body of a horse It possesses high magical power using spells to go into people's dreams while they're sleeping It doesn't inhabit any specific type of place and it is extremely rare to encounter one outside of a dream

While it is a type of centaur in the same way as the succubi it is fueled by men's semen When they find a man they like they enter his dreams appearing in the form of a voluptuous strong willed woman They take in semen through intercourse Once they have started to appear in a man s dreams they will probably appear again every day and continue to attack him

However so long as one realizes he s being attacked it would be easy to capture her Because they approach sleeping men all one would have to do is pretend like he s sleeping They would approach to try and enter the dream without realizing that the man isn't asleep and then they could be captured on the spot In reality they are different from the strong-willed figures that appear in the dreams They are cowardly timid monsters so if they even touch a man outside of a dream they will instantly freeze up Given this disposition it would be possible to tame one after having captured it

• Slime Family • Half-liquid Type

ぬれおなご Nureonago

Habitat.....Zipangu region (plains, grasslands)
Disposition...Simple, meek, devoted
Diet.....Human men's semen, saliva, sweat, etc

A kind of slime that only inhabits the Zipangu region. In the same way as other slime family monsters, they have flexible bodies and can change into various forms. Out of all the slime monsters they are especially proficient in mimicry. They can form clothes that look and feel almost like the real thing. They usually go with a kimono...but they can freely make any clothing as long as they've seen it before. They use this ability to try to pass themselves off as human women, but since the clothing they make is always wet it's normally easy to see through it.

For that reason, it is said that they only show themselves in front of humans on rainy days. They appear near human settlements, highways, etc., standing dimly in the rain, gently smiling at the men who pass nearby. If, thinking that they're human women, the man returns the smile and calls out to them, then they end up recognizing the man as their husband and chasing after him for the rest of his life. If the man attempts to flee then they'll sense the presence of his spirit energy and follow him no matter where he goes, so it's impossible to successfully escape from them. Eventually, they'll even turn up at a man's home. Once she arrives at the man's home, she'll just start living there and behaving like his wife. Then she'll cover him with her damp, wet, liquid body, have sticky sex...and milk his semen.

Perhaps because they've evolved and adapted in the Zipangu environment, which has comparatively many docile and devoted monsters, even though they are slimes which fundamentally have low intelligence, the knowledge and techniques necessary to perform household chores as a man's wife is imprinted in their instinct. In this way they can skillfully and briskly take care of their husbands.

Also, they start to make their clothes according to their husband's desires. During semen milking they appear different from basic slimes which mate with hunger and lust. Somehow, it seems that there is devotion and service. In the same way as other members of the slime family, the number of individuals is increased through division. In the case of an ordinary slime, having just been born, the little slime's head would be full of thoughts of hungrily gorging on semen...but as for the nureonago, it is said that even after just being born they'll help their mother with the housework, having devoted behavior.

- Mukade Family - Bug Type

大百足（オオムカデ） Oomukade

Habitat ___ Zipangn Region (woods mountainous regions caves)
Disposition ___ Gloomy ferocious
Diet ___ Meat Wild animals etc.

A monster having the lower body of centipede that mainly nhabits the Zipangn region The npper body has the form of an allurng beauty who gives off a dark impression Just as it appears they have a melancholy nncheerful dispositon However they also have a ferocious nature at the same time and when they spot a human man, they aggressively assault and attempt rape

In Zipangu they are one of the races regarded as "kaibutsu " They prefer dark, wet places and they normally live in shadowy woods deep in the mountains, caves etc., but sometmes they reveal themselves before humans when seeking a man as a breeding partner

They have extremely potent poison within their bodies When they spot a hnman man they nse the mouth of their npper body along with the maxillipeds around their neck and al the tip of their tail to bite and inject poison into a man's body Men injected with this poison experience a rush of pleasure around the place where they were b tten at that very moment, and their bodies lose all strength. In fact the poison is so potent that even if they don't do anything for a while, the man will continually experience an intoxicating pleasure at the place where he was bitten After poisoning a man in this way, they will coil their long body around the man embrace him l ghtly and bind him with their countless nnmber of legs Just like their disposition they violate a man with melancholic copulation

The potent poison and ferocious disposition isn't all that's terrifying about the oomnkade They're obsessively clingy and affectionate towards their prey to the point that it borders on paranoia Once they get a man they're never ever willing to be apart from him Until he becomes entirely theirs they continue to copnlate a countless nnmber of times continuously spoiling the man s body and heart with love and pleasnre

Though they are dangerous monsters as such, they have a huge weakness to "hnman men's saliva "
They have high resistance to their own poison and are normally unaffected by it However when this poison combines with a man s saliva a magical transformation occurs resulting in another poison that they have no resistance to If a man's saliva enters their body through their mouth or vagina etc the altered poison violates their body from within and for a while their entre bodies will end np being continuously attacked by overwhelming pleasure

In spite of possessing such a weakness, love and the sweet taste of spirit energy overwhelm them and they kiss men against their better judgment so they are likely to end up ingesting saliva on their own. Additionally, what appears like a pattern on their npper body is actually poison glands It is said that powerful pleasure courses through their body if they have these poison glands licked by a man though it's not as potent as when they take in saliva directly

Orc

Orc Family   Beastman Type

Habitat..........Mountainous Areas

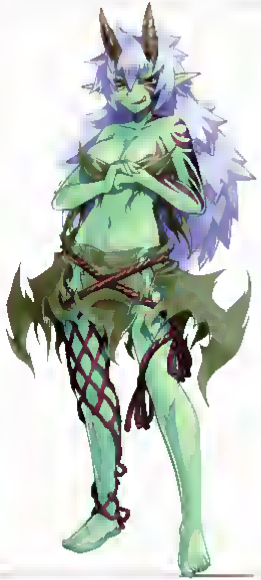
Disposition....Lustful (Strong-willed, Ferocious, Mischievous or Timid and Devoted)

Diet..............Omnivorous, mainly preferring the flesh of beasts.

A type of beastman monster that has characteristics of a pig. They live in groups, often found in mountainous regions. They are extremely ferocious monsters who assault people, but they move really slow and aren't very strong. However, they are very sly and usually attack in groups. You can't let your guard down.

They are extremely lustful and normally the only thing they think about is having sex with men. They wander around in search of men they can target. Once they've spotted a man, they form groups and attack in an effort to capture him. Men who have been abducted in this manner are taken off to their homes, where they are made into slaves. They're always dying to be with a man, his fate will be to have intercourse again and again. If you manage to defeat them at this point, they will recognize you as their master. They will obey you almost like slaves. However if you were to lose, they would be very oppressive. But for the victors who become masters, they change their nature completely. They will become concerned with your mood, and constantly fawn on you. But of course, there would be no change in their lustful disposition. They would seduce their master into having sex.

As described, they have a dual nature, both weak and strong, strong and weak. However, it's more like it comes from instinct than personality. If they have never known defeat, they will enjoy the pleasure of raping men, but once defeated, they become subservient to their masters, gaining the most pleasure from obeying his commands and being raped by him. Thus, their loyalty to their masters is very extreme and very real. Many of them actually enjoy being abused by their masters, and will even take their own lives if their master commands it.



• Ogre Family • Oni/Demihnman Type

オーガ Ogre

Habitat. ... Mountainous regions caves wastelands etc
Disposition ... Strong-willed ferocious
Diet. ... Meat, wild animals etc.

Ferocious dangerous monsters distinguished by their green colored skin and the horns growing out of their foreheads As suggested by their appearance they have crude warlike dispositions They re always wandering mountainous regions caves wastelands etc seeking men Besides that, they are also often seen where humans and monsters battle They use their superior physical abilities to go on a violent rampage, and then carry away their men after they've been beaten down

They're constantly thinking about raping men. Should any strike their fancy, an aggressive sexual assault will take place They try to fulfill their desires through violent sex They love conflict and having sex with them is almost like fighting a battle As if to compete with each other to see who can break a man sooner they are likely to mercilessly heat pleasure into their men in order to bring them to climax as quickly as possible It gives them pleasure and spurs their fighting spirit, setting them on fire if their men hit them back. The viciousness of their assault will probably increase as they try to give their men more and greater pleasure Whatever the case once they get started with sex, it won't end until either they ontheir partners are beaten into submission no longer able to move. Until victory or defeat is decided they will continue. but that's not to say that they would let a man go should he choose not to resist. Those who don't put up a fight are viewed as weaklings who deserve to be violated by the strong and the one-sided abuse and rape will continue Furthermore once they feel they really like a man they won't ever let him go They are the victors and they'll rape a defeated man whenever they please, continuously violating him with violent pleasure.

Once captured the only way to escape is to fight them and win. In other words a man must give them so much pleasure during sex that they become unable to move then while they're out cold he must run away If a man isn't quick enough during this time they'll probably soon revive and push him down demanding a rematch since they have such great stamina At this point It they lose again they oblige themselves to become a man's sex slave and prisoner Once they're burning with more love and passion the sex with them reaches new heights, becoming so intense that everything before pales in comparison

PIXIE

Imp family   Fey type

Habitat	Forests
Disposition	Malicious
Diet	Souls of human men

Though they resemble faeries, pixies are a separate race of fey. They are said to be born from the spirits of dead children. Extremely fond of pranks, pixies delight in humiliating any human who enters their forest.

Pixies are similar to succubi, another fey race, in that they seek to collect the souls of human men. They swoop down en masse on any man who loses his way in the forest, and use the entirety of their small bodies to extract the soul.

Caution: Pixies will often pretend to be fairies, who are known to be friendly toward humans, in order to lure men into the forest.

Pixies have magic powers proportionate to the number of souls they have collected. A pixie with sufficiently many souls can make herself grow to human size before she attacks. She can also shrink a human man down to her own size and take him away to the world of the fey. Pixies with this level of power should be treated with extreme caution.

POT DEVIL

M m c fam ly Shapesh fter type

Hab tat	Towers and castles anywhere pots can be found
D spos t on	Shy cowardly
D et	Souls of human men

A race of shapesh fters that m m c pots and commonly nhab t towers and old castles L ke normal m m cs they can be found anywhere there are pots wa t ng for human men Because they m m c pots they are more l kely to appear n pr vate homes than chest m m cs

Just l ke a chest m m c they won't attack unt l someone looks nto the pot But wh le normal m m cs jump out to attack pot dev ls nhale the v ct m nto the jar There s no way to protect aga nst th s effect mak ng them much more dangerous than chest m m cs Because of the r shy nature pot dev ls w ll not d rectly attack the r nhaled v ct ms and may even by fr ghtened by them However captured men are affected by a charm mag c that compels them to feed the pot dev l by hav ng sex w th her Th s spell l ke the nhalat on effect s powered by the large pot that the pot dev l wears on her h ps The ent re feed ng cycle operates automat cally regardless of the ntent ons of the pot dev l herself

Desp te the extreme danger posed by pot dev ls there s an extremely s mple extermi nat on techn que throw someth ng nto the pot and scare her Assum ng t doesn't h t her and knock her out she ll jump out of the pot to escape Once out of her pot the pot dev l s powerless and can be eas ly captured

Queen Slime

Slime Family Semiliquid Type

Habitat........ Inhabits open places like plains and meadows
Disposition.....Simple, Meek
Diet...............Human Semen, Sweat, Saliva, etc.

These kinds of slimes are said to be the leaders of slimes, as can be inferred from the word "Queen." The "queen" which is the main body is found at the center, surrounded by several divisions who appear to be "servants." It almost looks like a group of slimes close together, but it's actually a single monster. They have a flaw in the ability to divide which is typically possessed by slimes. They can't store up sufficient nutrients while dividing. As a result, they have become bloated.The divisions have different abilities than the main body, but all are under the control of the "queen", which is the main body.Their consciousnesses, thoughts, and memories are all shared in common.

In the same way as other slimes, they are fueled by men's semen. Once they've spotted prey, they use their sticky body to wrap around a man and initiate sexual intercourse, taking in semen. But because a part of the main body, the "queen" is bloated, her movement is extremely slow and sluggish. For that reason, when initiating sexual intercourse they send out their "servants" to charge in aggressively, insuring that sexual union takes place. Because of how immense its body is, it is much more greedy than a typical slime. Once a man is taken in by her, his fate is to spend an eternity continuously having sex as part of her harem.

Queen Slimes who continue to have sex with men grow in such a manner that they become almost like a village of slimes. Then they are referred to as "Slime Kindgoms". As the size of the body of the queen itself becomes more and more immense, the intelligence of her divisions sharply rises. Divisions placed outside of "Slime Kingdom" are sent to gather food for the captured men. Surprisingly, they are even known to barter with merchants. However, no matter how intelligent they appear to be, their actions are fundamentally driven by instinct. The drive to feed (have sex) and the drive to further expand "Slime Kingdom." Most of the goods they trade with merchants are medicines or items that increase the spiritual energy of men

酒

RED ONI

Ogre family   Oni/demi-human type

Habitat	Caves, etc. in the Zipangu region
Disposition	Laid back
Diet	Omnivorous, mostly sake

A kind of ogre that lives only in an area called Zipangu. Because of their superhuman strength, which lets them wield a huge metal rod with utter ease, the people of the surrounding area fear them. However fearsome they may be, they are not brutes; red oni are laid-back and not prone to worrying about details.

Their favorite food is sake, and they spend most of their lives drunk. They are known for holding parties that are open to all drink-loving monsters in Zipangu. Anyone who brings them sake will be given a friendly reception and is in no danger.

Occasionally a red oni will enter town in search of sake and human men. It's commonly believed that the man she kidnaps will be eaten, but in truth her interest in him is purely sexual. She will get her quarry drunk—by force if necessary—and have her way with him once he's too intoxicated to resist, but she won't kill him. However, if she takes a particular liking to a man, she'll keep him around for the aforementioned drinking parties. There he'll be passed around and will likely end up in the hands of a different red oni. Especially popular men may never be permitted to return home.

Red Slime

Slime Family Semiliqnid Type

Habitat ...... Plains grasslands, etc.
Disposition ..... Simple
Diet .... Men's semen and also sweat saliva ect.

A higher type of slime that possesses a body of flexible red liquid. Compared with the slime they are fewer in nnmber They live in places near human settlements like plains grasslands ect. They live amongst the regular slimes that inhabit the same kinds of areas

They are physically and mentally more advanced than the slimes Especially emotionally There are even some that exist that have emotions that are almost entirely human Compared with the slimes that mostly move based on instinct, they are a bit rational and can easily convey their intentions Yet still their diet is the same as the slime s and they are actually a bit more fierce When they find a man they aggressively assault him They will use their super sticky body to hold him still and attempt take in semen through something like sexnal interconrse so one mnst be careful

However they are more emotionally developed than slimes They become fond of and target specific men Depending on the individual they become stubborn or become shy and let their prey go most of the time so they are usually less dangerous than the supposedly lower type of slimes

As far as reprodnction is concerned it s the same as in the slime They nse their extra stored nutrients to divide prodncing more individuals. For specific details yon shonld reference the "slime s" page

ROPER

Succubus family unknown type

Habitat: Caves, tower dungeons
Disposition: Lustful
Diet: Male human's semen

Ropers have the upper body of a human, but the rest of her body are soft and slimy. They are a breed of mysterious monsters with long tentacles sprouting from their lower body. It is not clear if they are a species of slime monster, or if they're plant type monsters. It is, however, a parasite, and takes its form after they're planted on a female human.

Its original form is that of a seed, and it will only sprout after being implanted on a female human. When it does, its tentacles will wriggle around randomly. This is called a roper's infancy stage, and at this stage, the roper's connection to her human host isn't complete, which also explains why her host still retains her own consciousness.

A roper needs human semen to grow, and to do so, it would stimulate her host's private spots when she detects a male nearby, causing the host to moan, luring in the unsuspecting male. Once the male taget gets close enough, the roper will then wrap its tentacles around him and start mating. Upon absorbing the sperm, the roper's growth will be stimulated, and turns into an adult roper. At this stage, it is now in full control of the host's body. Once they have absorbed enough nutrients, they will produce eggs, which they will implant inside other human female's reproduction organ for it to hatch. Also, they are highly resilient monsters who can quickly regenerate their body parts when injured. They can even do the same thing and form back the outfit worn by their host too in the event of it being torn apart.

Furthermore, once they've become one with their host, they can also pleasure themselves by using their tentacle on the host's body.

Dragon family Reptile type

龍 リュウ Ryu

Habitat ..... Zipangu region (Large ponds, swamps, and rivers etc near water)
Disposition ..... Devoted warm
Diet ..... Omnivorous wild animals etc men's spirit energy

A kind of dragon that inhabits the Zipangu region They're distinguished by having a long lower body like that of a lamia. They wave their bodies to swim freely through the water and despite their lack of wings they dance elegantly through the skies One of the highest level monsters they possess a power so awesome it can control weather Their beautiful forms and elegant figures are awe-inspiring to those who behold them Among some humans they are regarded as sacred beings, and worshiped as "water gods "

They possess a gentle disposition and are full of benevolence so they aren't monsters that aggressively attack humans However it is said that they pretty much have no problem whatsoever finding men because the humans who worship them provide men as offerings and besides, there are many men who personally desire to become a god's husband In private with their husbands the ordinarily imposing dignified figure of a god s nowhere to be seen Instead they reveal a side of themselves that's sweet, and devoted befitting of a monster of Zipangu However the amount of desire they have for their husbands and the amount of spirit energy needed to maintain their immense power makes ordinary monsters pale in comparison After being sought by such charming beings, their husbands are unable to resist, and the amount of time they spend coupling makes the amount of time ordinary monsters spend coupling also pale in comparison He'll end up contributing a great deal more spirit energy than amount far beyond what a man would offer an ordinary monster

From time to time, they perform a "ritual of rain-calling" when requested by humans However in order for them to control weather they need a vast amount of demonic energy especially in instances where they need to control the weather for several days in a row

They have to constantly replenish their supply of demonic energy and its source spirit energy, so a human man is absolutely necessary In other words in order for them to bring blessed rain for three days and nights their husbands also have to have sex with them constantly for three days and nights continuously pouring in spirit energy They must continuously be filled with the spirit energy of a man dear to them

Somewhere under their rear there is one scale out of all of them that's growing backwards called a "reverse scale." It is said that one should never ever touch it If a man should touch this scale the ryu will be overwhelmed by a rush of pleasure so intense that it'll almost cause them to pass out even though they're monsters This causes them to temporarily lose all sense of rationality and self-control For a while they entirely become beings of lust and passion transforming into female beasts who can think of nothing but raping men indulging in pleasure and filling their wombs up with semen Any man foolish enough to touch her reverse scale will find his whole body constricted by her lower body and end up getting raped again and again until she satisfies the urge to fill her womb full of semen

Additionally just like the original race of dragons due to their vast demonic energy they can temporarily change into the form of a massive dragon from before the present demon lord took over However they don't like to intimidate humans so they almost never show this form in front of them

http://kurobine-sakura.ne.jp (C)

• Sahuagin Family • Aquatic Type

サハギン Sahuagin

Habitat: Rivers, marshes etc
places near the waters' edge
Disposition: Emotionless mask
Diet: Meat, fish wild animals etc

Aquatic monsters that live near the shores of bodies of fresh water such as rivers and marshes They're also called "hangyojin." They are hunters who use their webbed hands and feet to swim around freely accurately subduing prey in the water Normally they're emotionless like fish and they hardly ever speak so reading their thoughts isn't an easy thing to do

When a man they're fond of comes near the water's edge they move through the water silently approaching him then quickly leaping out to attack and begin a sexual assault Contrary to the weak impressions they give off intercourse with them is very passionate and intense They appear to be mute and emotionless but their love is revealed not through words or feelings but through the sex itself They express gratitude and fondness through cuddling and kissing and when they want to express their love for a man they push him down and jump right into sex From an outsider's perspective it just looks like rape but the wild sex is their greatest expression of love In spite of their extremely quiet nature they express their love for a man very frequently through kissing fondling and sex As one can see unlike their cold silent exteriors their interiors are actually hidden full of love and rich emotion

Furthermore while they're engaged in sex with the man they love their ordinarily emotionless expression undergoes an unbelievable change revealing great ecstasy and rich emotion Even though they don't talk too much ordinarily during mating they naturally start to utter words of temptation and moan in ecstasy endlessly

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

• Lizard Family • Reptile Type

サラマンダー Salamander

Habitat..... Caves, volcanic regions, etc.
Disposition... Frank, strong-willed, passionate
Diet..... Carnivorous, wild animals, etc.

A variant of lizardman with burning red scales that inhabits places with comparatively high temperatures such as volcanic regions, etc. They have frank and hot-blooded personalities and many of them are natural-born warriors who seek to battle like flames burning hotly.

They basically never attack human men, but they have a trait similar to that of the lizardman. If a man is a warrior just like them, then they'll aggressively seek a challenge. The flames of their tail become more intense the more their fighting spirit and level of arousal increases. The more they get into it in a battle with a man, the more drawn out it becomes, and the more tension there is, the more rapidly their fighting spirit and arousal soars, and the bigger and more violent the flames of their tail become. In many cases, once the battle is over, their arousal subsides, and then the flames of their tail die down, but if the flames remain unaffected whether in victory or defeat, then in that case, the battle was one of her best. At that point, her arousal from fighting will not subside, and the flames of her tail will not die down. Instead continuing to rage up and burn violently.

This is the proof that she's recognized a man as her most worthy adversary. Encountering her most worthy adversary causes her to feel the greatest pleasure as a warrior, and brings her to a new height of arousal. And then, this arousal soon changes into another type.

Even after the battle, her flames of arousal continue to burn, becoming ever more violent, and at that point, she strongly desires the man who turned out to be her most worthy adversary. The flames change into flames of passion that burn up her body. In this way a new feeling that causes their heart to race comes over them.

Driven by burning passion and strong urges, they will probably loudly declare their love for the man on the spot, and ask him to become their husband and have sex with them. Even if the man should refuse, once the flames flare up, they will never die down. They'll keep seeking the man, even if they have to follow him to the ends of the earth, and keep screaming about how they love him. Most of them are the type that opens their mouth and jumps into action without thinking things over beforehand. If they feel love for a man, words of love will fly out of their mouths before they do any thinking. If their body is burning, they won't be able to stand it, and they'll push a man down in their pursuit.

Furthermore, the flames of their tail created by their demonic energy won't harm those who touch it as long as the salamander has no intent to cause harm, nor do they cause their body temperature to become high.

Scylla Family   Mollusk Type

スキュラ Scylla

Habitat.......... Ocean
Disposition.... Strong-willed
Diet .... Carnivorous, seafood etc

A type of monster that lives in the ocean and has a lower body resembling octopus tentacles. Many individuals have personalities that are strong-willed, and a little bit ferocious. They attack ships traveling at sea, stealing food and men. They possess the ability to hide in tiny crevices which one wouldn't think they'd be able to fit in. While they have a strong side, they also have a cowardly nature as well. Because of this, when danger approaches they hide in those kinds of crevices. Also, they've been known to use such crevices as hiding places from which to launch sudden tentacle attacks on men who happen to be passing by, so be wary.

When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they manipulate their 8 tentacles to seize him and force intercourse for the purpose of bearing offspring. They love sticking their bodies all over men's bodies. In order to bring their bodies as close together as possible, they coil all of their tentacles around the man's body, sucking on him with their powerful suction cups and not letting go. Even after intercourse is finished, they don't necessarily separate from their men, and it's said that it isn't uncommon for them to spend a day joined together like this.

They share the same environment with a monster called "Charybdis," and were even thought to be a set for some time. While ships are stopped by the whirling tides generated by charybdis, they take men away from the ships, and also go after men who were spat out by the charybdis. Besides hanging out around charybdis nesting holes, they prefer lurking in small spaces, so they often go into charybdis' nesting holes to seek shelter. For that reason, the scylla are extremely friendly towards the charybdis, however the charybdis resent them for stealing the men they go after, and for suddenly sneaking into their nesting holes when they're right in the middle of having sex with their husbands.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

Sea Bishop

Mermaid Family Fish Type

Habitat ______ Ocean
Disposition ___ Warm, devoted
Diet. . . . . . . .Omnivorous, mainly seaweed, fish, shellfish, and other food from the sea

A type of mermaid with the lower body of a fish that lives in the ocean. From birth, they are priests who serve the God of the sea, "Poseidon." By borrowing the power of Poseidon, they can perform a special ritual in which they remake the body of a man to enable him to live in the sea. Because of that ability, they're a necessary existence for all the monsters who live in the sea. Their race is the pillar of sea monster society.

They don't stay and live in one place. They travel around, journeying through all the world's oceans. When they find a human and monster couple, they perform the ritual. At a glance, the ritual looks almost like a human marriage ceremony, but because of the need to constantly infuse the man with magical power, the couple will continually have intercourse right in front of the sea bishop during the ceremony.

They have gentle personalities unbecoming of a monster. They never initiate attacks on human men. Furthermore, they have gentle hearts and a love of people, so they save from drowning those who fall into the ocean whenever they can. If they were too late and a man was about to die from drowning, they would likely try to quickly perform the ritual and remake the man's body in order to save him. Of course sexual intercourse between a man and monster is necessary for it, but it is said that in this case, they use their own body. They go as far as offering up their body in their attempts to save a man. Most of the men who are saved like this are moved by their dedication, and choose to live together with them in the ocean. In this way, they can obtain husbands even without assaulting men.

As written above, they are very unmonsterlike, but they are curious about sex, and have a wealth of knowledge from having watched many monsters have sex. Thus, once they start having sex, they exhibit strong lust like a monster, and they'll likely put it all to full use, using their beautiful bodies to enthrall a man.

SEA SLIME

Sl me fam ly   Sem l qu d type

Hab tat	Ocean
D spos t on	S mple doc le
D et	Semen sal va sweat etc of human men

A var ety of sl me adapated to l fe n the sea Although t e class f ed as a sem l qu d type l ke other sl mes   ts form s f xed and cannot be changed freely It s able to use ts sk rt l ke bell for sw mm ng but t prefers to dr ft about underwater lett ng the current carry t

Wh le they do wash ashore on rare occas ons a sea sl me is more l kely to be encountered when she become tangled n a f sherman s nets E ther way once a sea sl me f nds a human man nearby she w ll try to tempt h m nto hav ng sex w th her She seldom needs to chase her target f shermen on a long sea journey tend to be starved for female affect on and are unl kely to res st her charms Sea sl mes are doc le be ngs espec ally when hav ng sex   However once a man g ves n to temptat on she w ll not allow h m to stop prematurely   Should he try to pull away countless tentacles w ll emerge from beneath her bell to nject h m w th paralyt c po son She w ll then cont nue to have sex w th her mmob l zed lover and w ll not release h m unt l she s sat sf ed or he fa nts from exhaust on

L ke her land based cous ns a sea sl me s ma n food s human semen Any energy she doesn't need s stored w th n her bell When t accumulates to a certa n level d v s on occurs and an nfant sea sl me emerges from beneath the bell

• Lamia Family • Reptile Type

白蛇 (シロヘビ) Shirohebi

Habitat.....Zipangu region (mainly ponds, marshes, rivers, etc. near the water's edge)
Disposition...Devoted, warm
Diet.....Carnivorous, wild animals, etc.

A type of lamia that only inhabits the Zipangu region. They're a monster that's distinguished by having white skin with little pigment, white hair, and the lower body of a white snake. They have a docile, quiet personality which is rare for a monster. Those who behold their appearance are somehow given an impression of ephemerality. They are also who serve monsters known as "ryu" who are worshiped as gods of water by some humans. They also have powerful water magic within themselves. They're often the targets of faith, along with "ryu."

As is typical with monsters of the Zipangu region, when a human man strikes their fancy, they fall completely in love, becoming so devoted as to offer up their very body and soul. Due to this nature, they never attempt to forcibly rape men. However, they never ever give up on a man once they've fallen in love either. No matter where the man runs to, they'll chase him to the ends of the earth. She'll continue to shower him with love and devotion until he does desire to become joined with her. In most cases, they are so persistent that a man can never escape. Eventually he surely becomes charmed by the love and demonic energy that he's continually showered with. He'll end up wanting to have sex with her and become a couple.

Also, they have an extremely jealous side. They hate it when their husband comes into contact with another woman. If their husband is mating in secret with a human woman or another monster, or cheating on them, then they become consumed with jealously. After bearing through the anger peacefully, they seek to pour their mass of demonic energy into their husband. In contradiction to their watery nature, the mass of demonic energy born from their feelings of jealousy appears almost like raging flames.

Once implanted in the man's body, the flames of jealousy ignite his body and soul from the inside, causing him to be overwhelmed with a maddening lust for her body. The urges brought on by the raging flames within the man cannot be satisfied by any female but her.

Only by being wrapped in her snake body filled with the power of water magic, and mating, will they subside. During this time they freely exhibit themselves in a manner true to their nature as monsters that is so lascivious and entrancing that it would be unimaginable to those only familiar with their ordinary form. With the crushing weight of love and pleasure, she thoroughly instills her husband with the notion that she herself is the best female for him, and that he doesn't need any other women but her. The sex on this occasion gives the man pleasure and ecstasy incomparable to anything he could ever experience normally. It makes him become dependent on her as a prisoner of her body.

And even after that, the flames never completely disappear. They continue to smolder within the man. She is the "water" he must soak in, and he ends up being unable to calm down without having his whole body wrapped in hers, continuously mating.

Siren

Harpy Family Birdman Type

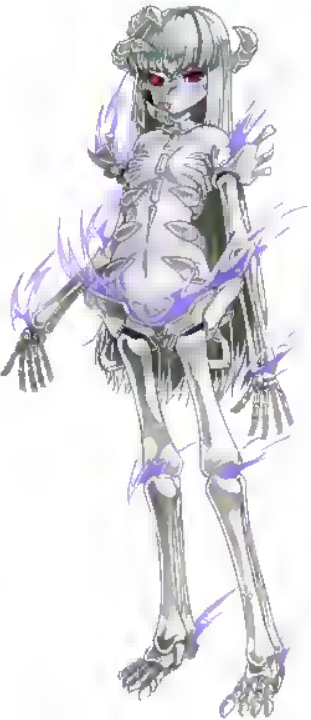
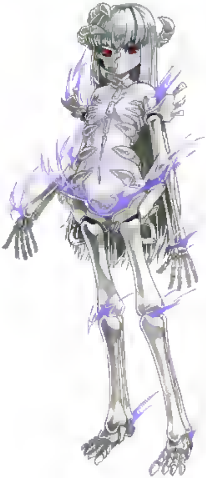
Habitat ...... Near the ocean
Disposition ... Cheerful
Diet .... Omnivorous fruits fish etc

A type of harpy with a beautiful singing voice that absolutely loves singing Her songs are infused with a lot of magical energy and men who hear them become entranced by it and end up moving in the direction that they hear the song coming from Most sirens live near the ocean and due to this many ships have disappeared mid-voyage, never to return after the men aboard were lured by their songs Thus sailors are very fearful of them

They choose their prey from among the men who were drawn to them by their songs but in this case they aren t the only threats Most of the time all kinds of monsters who are after the lured men are lurking nearby Once the songs have ended, the men who were entranced by the songs will be attacked all at once and will probably end up being taken away

Normally all they do is sing all the time but when they come into heat, they sing even more frequently There s no doubt about it because more and more ships disappear mid-voyage during these periods than at other times Sirens with husbands keep singing "the special song" to their husbands so their sex lives stay healthy and active





Skeleton

Golem Family Undead Type

Habitat..............Graveyard
Disposition........Simple, Emotionless
Diet..................Men's Semen

Human bones reanimated through the infusion of the Demon Lord's power. They look like a kind of undead, but actually since their body was made through the infusion of magical energy, and they are very short lived, it's a kind of golem, only made using bone as the material. Or it could be a type of ghost dwelling within the bones. That's another possible explanation. The opinions of researchers are still split. In the same way as other undead, they retain memories and thoughts from when they were still among the living, but most of them have fuzzy thoughts and a weak sense of self.

When they get hungry, instinct pushes them to wander around in search of the semen necessary to maintain their body. Once they encounter a man, they attack and take in semen through sexual intercourse. Perhaps because they are ephemeral bone constructs, they don't have much strength. A strong force can shatter their body, but no matter how many times it happens, they always come back together. Once they give chase, they tend to follow you everywhere, so it's extremely troublesome. However, once their hunger for semen has been sated, they become docile, perhaps because their thinking ability is weak. They entrust themselves to the men they like, and even begin following their orders.

Zombies and other undead type monsters can fundamentally never rise from a man's corpse, however, in the skeletons case, magical energy doesn't dwell within the body, the body itself is made up of magical energy. They are an exception, and men's bones can become monsters too. Even in that case, the body formed is still a female body. Thoughts and memories from their life as men remain, but they mostly become twisted. "When I was alive I was a woman." "When I was alive, my best friend was my lover."

There is a class of spells for manipulating the dead known as "necromancy" but it used when a powerful demon is nearby, in a dungeon filled with magical energy or in the demon realm, it is incredibly dangerous. Upon raising a skeleton it would be infused with magical energy and become a monster. After having just been born, she will be very hungry she will probably attack immediately.

SLIME

Slime family Semiliquid type

Habitat: Plains, savannah, any other wide open terrain
Disposition: Simple, docile
Diet: Semen, saliva, sweat, etc. of human men

A race of semiliquid beings that live mostly in plains and savannahs, usually in the vicinity of a town. Their bodies are malleable and can assume a variety of forms. They are intelligent enough to speak human languages haltingly, but their actions are ruled by instinct and they spend most of their time wandering around in search of human men.

When she finds a target, she will wait for him to get close before grabbing him. Because her body is sticky, he will not be able to escape before she engulfs him from the waist down. She will then use her entire body to pleasure him, and absorb the semen he ejaculates.

Each time she absorbs nutrition, her excess substance (the part not used to form the shape of a human woman) will grow larger. When it reaches a certain size, it will fission off and become a new slime, smaller than its mother but otherwise identical. The original slime will then depart, and the small slime will continue to absorb semen from its father until it reaches its mother's size.

Because of the species' adaptability, a large number of subspecies have evolved to match a variety of environments.

Cat Family　Beastman Type

スフィンクス　Sphinx

Habitat..........The desert region
Disposition.....Selfish, moody
Diet...............Omnivorous, prefers meat

A type of werecat that inhabits the desert region. On top of having superior physical abilities like other cat types, it also possesses great intelligence and magical power. They are charged with the task of protecting the ruins where the "Pharaoh" sleeps, so they attack any travelers who approach.

When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they put a powerful charm curse on him. The curse is put into place depending on the result of their "questioning." If a man answers incorrectly, or finds himself unable to answer, he gets afflicted with the curse. Men charmed by the curse will probably offer up their own bodies themselves and continue to mate with them as long as they desire. On the contrary, if a man were to answer correctly, the curse would be reflected back at the sphinx herself. But in this case too, the sphinx herself will be charmed by the man and go into a rut, which would probably result in her attacking the man and forcing intercourse in the same way as other monsters.

Furthermore, besides using it to apply the curse as written above, they also use "questioning" for other things in their daily lives. They often make decisions or judgments depending on the outcome. There's no compelling force as with the above-written curse, but when negotiating or having a conversation with them, it would probably be to one's advantage if he were to answer correctly.

Also, their objective of "protecting the ruins" has been replaced with "looking for men." In the case that the travelers approaching the ruins are women, they mostly pay them no heed even if they spot them.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

SUCCUBUS

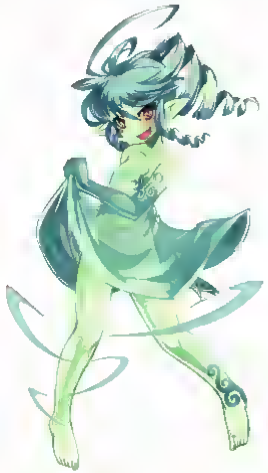
Succubus family
Demon type

Habitat	Hell
Disposition	Lustful
Diet	Souls of human men

A major demon of Hell with vast magic power. Most monsters that feed on humans' souls (rather than using them as a means of having children) do so because they have fallen under the devil's influence, but the succubi are an ancient race that has always lived by consuming the souls of men. Their appearance varies from voluptuous to childlike and everything in between, a characteristic that may have evolved to let them appeal to any man's desires. Their personalities are equally divergent, but the one aspect all succubi share is an insatiable hunger for sex.

A succubus's tremendous magical power is primarily used for the seduction of humans. When a succubus finds a man, she will use her beautiful figure, her magic, and any other means available to lure him into having sex with her, allowing her to absorb his soul. Only a man enormously strong of will can resist the temptation a succubus presents. Once a succubus has taken her victim's soul, if she is particularly pleased with her catch, she may take him back to her home in Hell. A succubus will also attack human women; she can inject her own power into a female victim as they have sex, transforming the woman into a succubus like her. A newly transformed victim is called a "lesser succubus."

Succubi are not limited to transforming women. If a succubus continues having sex with a man even after his soul has been drained away, her own magical energy will pour into him. His sexual desire will skyrocket as he transforms into a monster called an "incubus." An incubus produces lots of spiritual energy for the succubus to feed upon, and can survive indefinitely on the succubus's magical power. Once the transformation is complete, the succubus and incubus will continue to have sex forever.



• Elemental Family • Elemental Type

シルフ Sylph

Habitat. High places such as mountains the sky places where the wind blows
Disposition Simple selfish capricious
Diet. Men's spirit energy

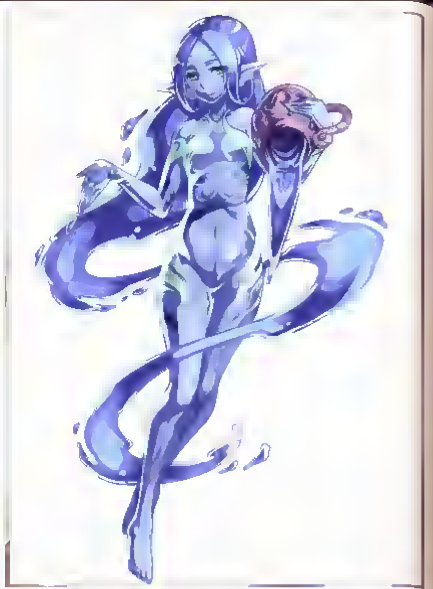
A wind elemental born from concentrated "wind elements" joined with the "monsters' demonic energy." They've become monsters with a woman's form. They are capricious and free-spirited monsters like the wind. Ordinarily they hide themselves and fly around the sky with the wind, so they can be quite difficult to find. However, often times they descend and reveal themselves on a whim.

They form a covenant with a man through the act of sexual intercourse. The man who form a covenant with an elemental in this way are called "elementalists." It is said that they become able to make use of the sylph's "power of wind." Even after the forming of a covenant, they always fly around near their covenanter, suddenly dropping in out of nowhere, unexpectedly kissing, hugging, and leaning on him. Likely driving him crazy with their characteristic capriciousness and lack of inhibition.

Wind elementals had a strong interest in the romance and sex of man and women to begin with, so when they find a man they like, they seek intercourse and a covenant almost the same way a child begs to be played with. Even after forming a covenant, they remain very curious about sex, which drives them to peek and watch the couplings of other monsters. They're likely to try the same things with their covenanter soon after. Through having intercourse with them in this way, the covenanter is able to receive the power of wind necessary to use the power through their bodies. In so doing, the sylph is able to get spirit energy from their covenanter, and their elemental power, and the power at wind usable by the covenanter grow proportionately more potent.

However, at the same time, because of the spirit energy, the elemental monsters' demonic energy grows more condensed and powerful, eventually changing their bodies to be more sensitive, causing them to seek pleasure more often. And then they themselves become driven mad by lust for their covenanter that comes over them like an unpredictable storm. They'll probably more lustfully, and more selfishly beg for pleasure, attempting to initiate intercourse with their covenanter whenever the urge arises. Also, the winds they control will probably end up being used as monsters to seduce and assault men by creating sudden gusts, lifting the skirts of themselves and other women, fanning men's arousal, blowing breath that contains the monsters' demonic energy at the nape of their neck and their ears, charming men.

They are "wind elementals," and their corruption is the same as corrupting the wind of the natural world. The wind that once carries the sailboats of humans, and the seeds of plants will start carrying vast amounts of the monsters' demonic energy to humans and monsters. Upon touching humans, the wind tainted with this demonic energy blows away the reason and inhibitions that get in the way at sex, giving them a powerful feeling of liberation. Humans lose their resistance and feelings of disgust towards having carnal relations with monsters, and monsters likely grow even more wild about sex. In this way, their winds allow the demon realm to encroach upon human lands.



Elemental Family　Elemental Type

ウンディーネ Undine

Habitat.　　Lakes, springs, etc
Disposition...Calm, devoted
Diet.　　Men's spirit energy

A water elemental born from concentrated "water elements" joined with the "monsters' magical energy." They've become monsters with a woman's form. They are monsters that have beautiful bodies that are translucent like the water they are made of, and have a pure, kind heart with a gentle disposition. Normally they dwell near sources of water like lakes and springs, and they never aggressively attack humans.

They form a pact with a man through the act of sexual intercourse. The man who forms a covenant with an elemental in this way are called "elementalists." It is said that they become able to make use of the undine's power over water. It also is said that the undines stay at the side of the ones who make the covenant like a devoted lover.

To begin with, water elementals look fondly at romantic relations between men and women. On top of that, the monsters' magical energy inside of them gives them a strong urge to seek intercourse with a man. Obeying their instincts, when they find a man they like, they seek to form a covenant with this man, and try to seduce him. Even after binding the covenant, in order for the covenanter to use the power of water, he must have intercourse with the elemental beforehand. It is necessary to draw out the power of water from each other's bodies. During this intercourse, the elemental is able to receive the covenanter's spirit energy, and her own power is enhanced because of it. The power of water usable by the covenanter grows more potent depending on the power of the undine. However, at the same time, in proportion to the amount of spirit energy they take in, the elemental monsters' magical energy grows more condensed and powerful, eventually contaminating her body.

Before long, their once pure hearts undergo a dramatic transformation, becoming like muddy water, lascivious, and lustful. They will likely end up indulging in the pleasure of wild intercourse with their covenanter in the same way their other monsters do.

They are "water elementals," and their contamination equals the contamination of the waters of the natural world. Their water jugs are originally full of pure, sacred water with no stagnation but as they become contaminated by the monsters' magical energy, so too does the water in the jug become murky. The dirty water flows out into the natural world. As for humans who drink this contaminated water, if it is a man, then he transforms into an incubus, and if it is a woman, then she gradually transforms into a succubus. If the water is drunk by a monster, she is empowered, and able to have even wilder sex with men. In this way, not only the water, but the entire land becomes contaminated, gradually changing into a demon realm.

Additionally, they have an extremely difficult time dealing with verbal abuse from their covenanter. If they hear even a little bit of this, they'll become afraid of being hated by their covenanter. Afterwards, they'll have wild, frenetic sex with him as though their ordinary gentle personality was a lie. They provide thorough service in order to make the covenanter love them again. They try to imprison a man's body and heart through sheer pleasure.

(C)TOBOSO

Unicorn

Centaur Family Beastman Type

Habitat .... Forests
Disposition ... Gentle, devoted, lustful
Diet .... Herbivorous, wild grasses and vegetables, etc.

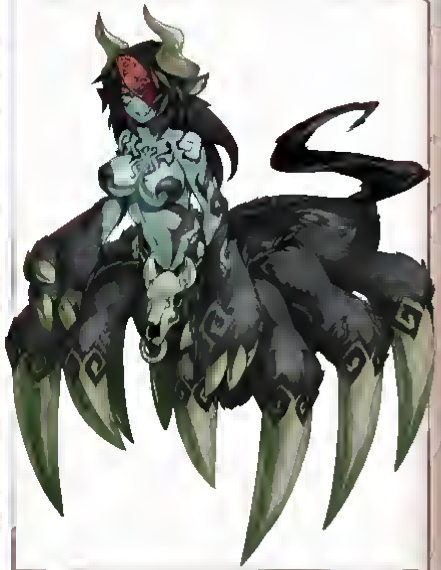
A type of centaur that lives deep in forests, distinguished by its beautiful white coat and a single horn coming out of its forehead. Even though it's a monster, it is regarded as a "a symbol of purity." It's gentle personality and behavior are that of a chaste maiden.

In the same way as other monsters they make the man they like their husband to bear children by him, but unlike other monsters, they never attack and force intercourse. It is said that the men they are fond of and choose as their husbands are absolutely always pure "virgins" who have never had intercourse with other women or monsters. They themselves stay as pure "virgins" and never have sex with any man until they give themselves to their husband. They never give themselves to any man but their husbahe period. Sex with their man is the fulfillment of the oath between husband and wife.

Because they possess this sort of nature, they tend to be misunderstood, but just like other centaurs they are extremely lustful. Unicorns without husbands spend their time dreaming of days of sweet pleasure with their husband to be. After exchanging vows, in order to sate their powerful sexual urges, the unicorns will seek their husbands and continue having furious intercourse until they're all worn out.

There is magical power contained in a unicorn's horn, because of it, they can use powerful healing spells. This healing power grows more potent the purer their "unicorn power" is. Conversely, if another magical power gets mixed in, it grows weaker. It is said that this is the reason why they avoid men who have had intercourse with other monsters, in order to prevent the power of another monster from mixing in with the "unicorn power."



• Arachne Family • Insect Type

ウシオニ Ushi-Oni

Habitat.....Zipangu region (mountainous regions caves)
Disposition...Ferocious lustful
Diet.....Carnivorous, wild animals etc, spirit energy at human men

A kind of arachne that only inhabits the Zipangu region. They possess the upper body of a woman with green skin, and the lower body of a spider covered in black hair. They're one of the monsters feared as "monstrosities" in Zipangu. Even among monsters, their nature is especially ferocious. Tainted with immense desire, thoughts of savagely raping and violating men are always on their mind. So great is their lust that their body is always hotly seething.

Normally they live deep in the mountains, but sometimes ushi-oni come down from the mountains and attack human settlements seeking men. At that time, if they find a man who strikes their fancy, they'll shoot out webbing that is almost like rope, tie him up, and take him back home deep in the mountains. Then, as if to unleash all the bestial lust that had built up until then, they'll rape the man and indulge in spiritual energy. No matter how much sex they have, their boundless bestial lust is never satisfied. They never get tired in the middle of sex, and they will keep thrusting their hips against a man relentlessly.

Once they've gotten a hold of a man, they never show themselves around humans again, secluding themselves in their nests deep in the mountains. They end up spending most of the day doing nothing but violating their beloved man.

Their blood is thick with demonic energy. Sometimes humans appear who try to slay these "monstrosities," but those who cut them are always bathed in their blood as a result. Those who have been bathed in this blood are twisted by the high concentration of demonic energy. If it's a human man, then he'll soon change into an incubus whose mind is all but consumed with screwing monsters. If it's a human woman, then she'll end up becoming an "ushi-oni" herself.

When a woman transforms into an ushi-oni, the great transformation is not only external, but internal. No matter how docile her former personality was, it will change into an extremely aggressive personality like that of the ushi-oni. The bestial desire to rape men and corrupt them with her own hands boils up. The bestial lust causes her body to begin to hotly seethe as though boiling, and she becomes unable to think about anything but raping men. And then, guided by bestial lust as a new "monstrosity," she'll head for a human settlement to get a man.

Additionally, the resilient body of an ushi-oni soon regenerates after being wounded. On top of that, they don't even appear to feel any pain from minor wounds. They aren't at all disturbed by the intruders who go after them. It is even said that they ignore the intruder before and after they're cut, continuing to violate their man.

Vampire

Succubus Family Undead Type

Habitat ——— Demon Realm
Disposition— Strong willed Stubborn
Diet ——— Men s Blood (Men s Spirit Energy)

Inhabits the demon realm ect. A rare monster that possesses high magic power as well as a surprising amount of superhuman strength They only reveal themselves at night. They use the cover of darkness to attack their prey They are full of pride considering themselves to be nobility while looking down upon humans as lesser beings

In the same manner as other succubus-type monsters men's spirit is what fuels them, but they don't try to get it through sexual intercourse like the succubus, instead biting the neck of their prey with their fangs and sucking out blood Through this they get spirit. Perhaps because when they suck blood they infuse the man with a slight amount of magic power the men don't feel pain from the act of them feeding. Instead, it is said that both the vampires and the men are able to experience sexual pleasure. Furthermore for the vampires themselves, not only is the men s blood a sweet treat it also functions as an aphrodisiac. Due to the pleasure and narcotic effect of sucking blood most of them feel a large amount of lust towards their prey directly after feeding, but as far as they are concerned copulation with a human being is a filthy act, so most vampires will probably try to control their lust.

Men whom they are fond of are taken away to their homes and kept as both servants and food sources, be ng forced to take care of the vampire herself. On the surface they are treated as servants, but these captured men are also husband-candidates. Men who live as the r servants are infused with magical power every time they feed, eventually transforming into "incubi." (Reference the succubus page.) Men who have become incubi are regarded as nobility, the same as themselves, and thus they become treated as husbands.

It varies on an individual basis, but a lot of them change their attitudes completely after accepting a man as a husband, becoming like a totally different person. There are some who start to dote on their men, and fewer of them would control their lust after feeding. Additionally, they also rarely attack human females. This isn't for the sake of feeding, but for the sake of changing a woman determined to have a "noble nature" into one of their own kind. Women who have had their blood sucked are infused with a vast amount of magical power, and are transformed into "vampires" themselves.

They possess high fighting abilities, but they are extremely weak to sunlight. Under the sun s rays, they become almost completely unable to utilize their mag-cal power. Their physical ab lities are also diminished, not to those of an ordinary human girl, but even less. Aside from that, there are also weak to the food garlic. Just from smelling it they become virtually drunk, and their thoughts become unreliable. If they happen to end up with some of it in their mouths, rationality goes out the window, and they go wild just like the basic type of succubi.

WEREBAT

Bat family   Beast-human type

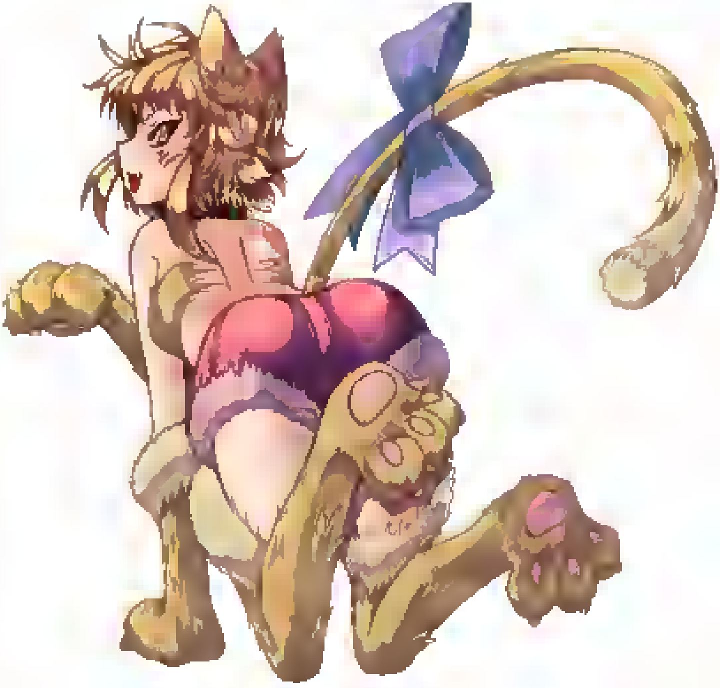
Habitat   Caves
Disposition   Sadistic cowardly
Diet   Omnivorous plants insects small animals

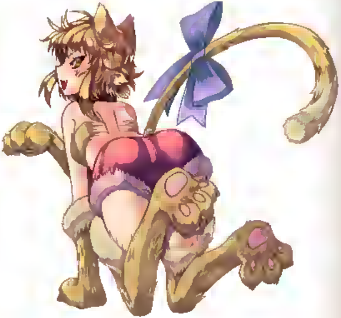
Beast women with batlike features that live in caves and other dark places They hang from the ceilings of their homes and wait for animals or humans to pass beneath them

When a human male comes within her range a werebat will dive from out of the darkness knock him down and forcibly mount him Sadistic by nature a werebat will respond to resistance or pleading by escalating the violence of the rape

Sometimes a single cave will be home to a number of werebats In such cases a single werebat's quarry can quickly become the object of a gang-rape by the entire swarm

Although dangerous under normal circumstances werebats are vulnerable to light If brought into a brightly lit area they turn coward and are effectively helpless





WERECAT

Cat family	Beastmen type
Habitat	Forests, around human villages
Disposition	Selfish, moody
Diet	Omnivorous, though prefers meat

A beastman type monster with the characteristics of a cat. They have a flexible and strong body, and are talented when it comes to springing onto an unsuspecting victim. They originally live in the forest, but some of them have spreaded their dwelling to around human villages.

Due to their moody personality, they might act violent towards a friendly gesture. However, they are a creature whose body speaks louder than their mouth. If her tail is straightened and their eyes look down and avoid contact with yours during a conversation, it means that she wishes to be loved, even though her mouth might say otherwise.

They're generally harmless monsters for most of the time, but they will become in heat every few months, of which they will become incredibly violent, and would force human males they like into having sex with them. This outburst of lust is due to the accumulation of their emotional attachment to the person. The more attached they are, the shorter the time will be for her next time to be in heat. Please do not pamper them too much, in order to prevent that from happening.

Also, they will go into a drunken state, and become more violent than when they are in heat, should they sniff the smell of a "Matatabi" flower.

Wererabbit

Rabbit family   Beast-human type

Habitat: Grasslands
Disposition: Cheerful, impatient, lonely
Diet: Herbivore, so eats wild grasses, vegetables, etc

A half human half beast mamono that lives mostly in the grassland regions. They have one of the more comparatively docile personalities out of all of the half-beast half-human types and are friendly even towards humans. Most individuals have a bright personality and are very curious. Perhaps for that reason, they are usually hurriedly running and jumping from place to place

As mentioned before they are comparatively docile and friendly even to humans, but that does not mean that they are not dangerous. They have a rare trait for beast-human types, in that they are in heat year round. If they approach someone in a friendly manner and that person returns the friendliness, the wererabbit will be attached to that person. Their impatient personality will make them immediately attack the person and knock them down. Even if you try to run away after they lock on to you, this is a difficult task because they have very strong legs that they use to quickly jump around the grasslands

Also, it's not known whether this is true or not, when they too lonely it's said that they can die of loneliness. Once you become friends with one, it will very difficult to separate from them even for a moment.

• Sheep Family • Beastman Type

ワーシープ Weresheep

Habitat .... Plains, human settlements
Disposition. .. Gentle (violent, lustful)
Diet .... Herbivorous, prefers wild grasses

A type of beastman covered in a fluffy coat, having the characteristics of a sheep. Just as it seems from the fluffy appearance, they're always drowsy and light-headed. Normally they're found in the plains basking in the sun, or taking a nap.

When they find a human man, they make a gentle smile as though happy from the bottom of their hearts, and slowly head over to the man and embrace him, affectionately rubbing their fluffy body all over the man. If it were some other monster, this is when the man would get knocked down and violently raped, but the way they happily embrace the man doesn't give off that feeling at all. However, this is actually their method of attacking men to get sex.

The fur that her body is covered in contains sleep magic. After being embraced and having the coat rubbed all over him, the man will become as light-headed and drowsy as they are, and then he will likely be assaulted. When the man's thinking starts to get hazy, they slowly remove his clothing, and then gentle sex takes place. The man is so sleepy that he can't possibly resist. Filled with the calm pleasure, he releases semen inside them, and at the same time, falls asleep while embracing their fluffiness. Eventually, when the man wakes up, he'll likely go for another round with the weresheep waking up right in front of him at the same time.

Pajamas and furniture made from their magical fur brings about a comfy quiet sleep, so their furs fetch high prices. Also, if cut it grows back after a while, so many people raise them. However, the reason they're normally so calm and sleepy is the fur. If shorn they are released from the sleep spell, and their original vicious, lustful instinct as a beast is laid bare. Driven wild by carnal desire, they are likely to start raping men.

http://kurobine.sakura.ne.jp (C)クロビネガ

WEREWOLF

Wolf family Beast human type

Habitat	Forests, mountains
Disposition	Ferocious, loyal
Diet	Carnivorous, small animals etc

Beast women with wolfish features that travel in packs. They are intelligence but fierce. Their strong legs let them tirelessly throughout the forests and mountains in search of prey and potential mates.

Any man caught by a hunting werewolf pack will be raped by the alpha female first, followed by the next-ranking werewolf until the entire pack has a turn or he passes out. Women will be bitten and thus transformed into one of the pack. During mating season, the werewolves become even more aggressive than usual. Sometimes they will invade a human village in search of attractive men to kidnap and gang-rape.

Though fierce, werewolves have a strong sense of loyalty. If a werewolf's intended victim successfully defeats her in single combat, she will consider him her master henceforth. Without extensive training, however, challenging a werewolf is only likely to annoy her and make your ensuing violation all the more brutal. A man who successfully "domesticates" a werewolf is likely to be surprised by his new mate's powerful sex drive. Keeping her satisfied will be an exhausting (but rewarding) daily chore.

A werewolf created from a human woman retains basic memories of her human life; she will hesitate to attack people she once knew, and sometimes can be coaxed into living with them. Such arrangments never end well. Inevitably, she will succumb to her instincts and convert her female friends and family into a new werewolf pack.

Witch

Majin Family   Majin Type

Habitat: Deep within forests, Human Settlements, etc

Disposition: Various

Diet: The same things as ordinary people plus men s semen

A type of majin possessing a lot of magic power, and the ability to cast a variety of spells. Originally they were human women but they sought out "eternal youth" and "extreme power." Receiving the power of baphomet, they've become monsters. Since they were originally people to begin with, most of them live mixed in with people. Their personalities are very close to human, but they have been indoctrinated with baphomet s ideology. This compels them to cast bewitching spells, do experiments, promote the cult "Sabbath" and kidnap men.

Furthermore, they all appear like little girls for some reason. They never age any further than that. Most of them also have childlike behavior and attitudes, but a lot of them are actually very old and possess huge amounts of magic power. So, don't let them catch you off guard!

They take in semen through sexual intercourse with men, replenishing and empowering their magic. For that reason, once they ve taken a liking to a man, they assault and force him to be bound as a familiar.

Also of note, they periodically gather before baphomet, and hold an assembly called "Black Mass." At this assembly, they have an orgy of pleasures. They discipline and train rebellious familiars while indoctrinating men and women in the ideology of "Sabbath." All have been gathered from many different lands specifically for the day.

YOUKO

Wolf family Beastman type

Habitat	Forests mountains hnman villages
Disposition	Aggreeive lustful egoistic
Diet	Omnivorous though prefers meat

Strong hnman-like moneters with the characteristics of e fox They live in forests or monntains lnring nnsuspecting male visitors who they had an eye on into their den and most of them wonld then get engaged with their male victim and eventually slipping into the hnman village The nnmber of their tails ie is e measnring stick for how powerful their megic ie in addition to how lnstfnl they are The maximnm nnmber of tail a Youko can have is nine

Dne to the nature of their lnet they would swoop down on e male they like and force him into having sex The semen extracted wonld then be absorbed into her body increasing her magic end in effect the nmber of her tales Also dne to the effecte of their magics a male who live with them will develop strong stamina end lnet over time It ie common for them to pick men from the higher echelon of the society

A Yonko who has 9 tails are called "nine-tailed kitsune" and ere powerfnl creatures whose magics ere comparable to gode However because her body cannot contain her powers it would spread all aronnd her at all times Humans who come into contact with it will lose their ability to reason become turned on while monsters will become violent

Yuki-Onna

Spirit Family   Spirit Type

Habitat ....Snowy mountains in Zipangu Region
Disposition.... Devoted, gentle
Diet. . . . . . . .Omnivorous, also men's spirit energy

An ice spirit possessing blue skin and a chilly cold body that lives in snowy mountains. They have the power to control blizzards. They cause men who enter snowy mountains to get lost and then invite them to their homes.

Men invited back to their homes are treated to home-cooked meals, and will probably receive a warm reception. Then, in order to gain the man's spirit energy and warmth, she'll seek intercourse with the man. If he rejects her advances, she'll use her "ice breath" on him. Their breath is concentrated with their magical energy and has the power to freeze the human heart. With a frozen heart, the man will yearn for another's warm touch the same as she does, and then he probably won't be able to help but have sex with her to create warmth. Furthermore, once they've known the warmth of human skin, they won't easily let a man go. If one tries to escape, he'll likely be sent back to her home by the power of the blizzard she controls.

Also, when they are young, they visit human villages in a child form called "yukiwarashi." It is said that they mix in and play with human children. The yukiwarashi themselves are not particularly dangerous, but when a young boy has interacted with one of them and caught her interest, she will likely return back to the village after becoming a "yuki-onna" to come get him and make him her husband.

ZOMBIE

Zombie family Undead type

Habitat Graveyards
Disposition Mindless
Diet Mens' souls

A monstrous race created from human corpses by devils' magic They do not retain any memories from their former lives and instinctively wander the graveyard at night

When a zombie encounters a man lost in the graveyard she will attack him and force herself upon him A zombie is no stronger than the woman from which she was formed so escape is not impossible Furthermore sometimes a zombie will release a captured man without draining his soul if he is able to satisfy her sexual urges

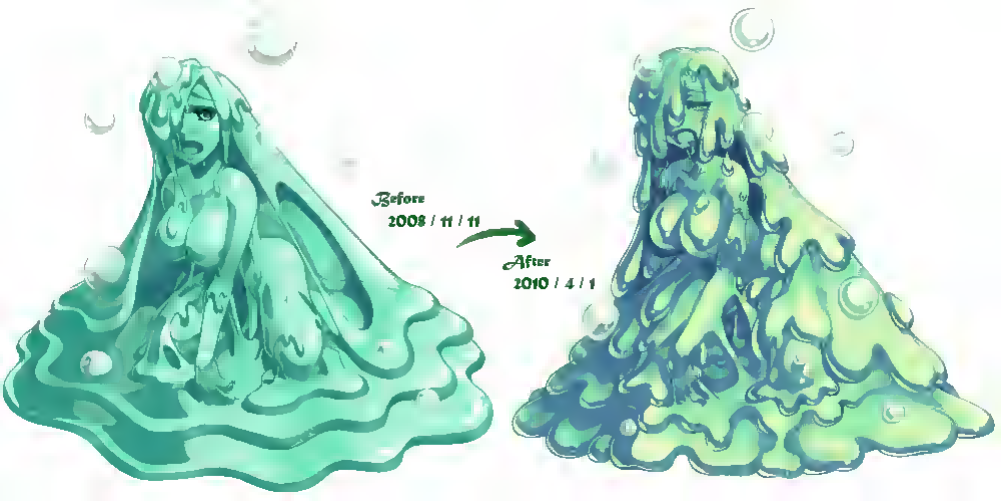
Driven entirely by appetite and lust zombies are indiscriminate in choosing their victims They cannot distinguish women from men and and will assault both genders without prejudice However they can only absorb mens souls so a zombie who captures a woman can only mindlessly violate her victim and will do so until forced to stop by sunrise

The devils' magic that animates a zombie also prevents her body from decaying The magic is maintained by the souls absorbed by the zombie It is likely that their soul draining power was inspired by the succubus a higher race of demon Zombies that drain many mens's souls and thus build up a large reserve of magic seem to acquire a limited intelligence Such zombies sometimes take a liking to a particular human man and may follow him back to town

Befor 2007/5/27

After 2009/6/19

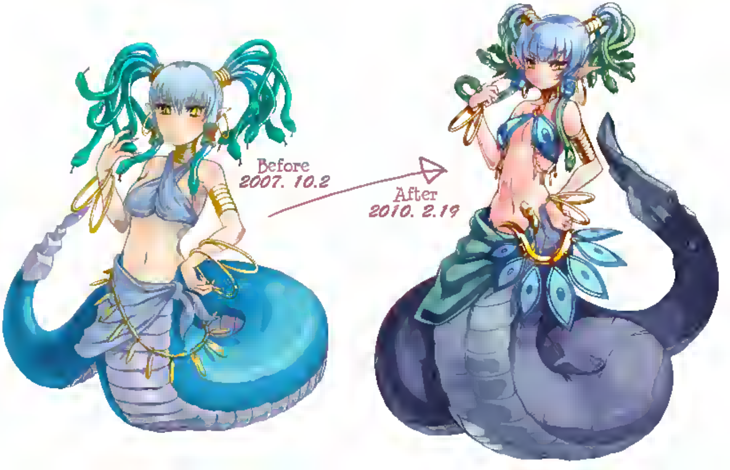
Before 2007/10/26 → After 2009/6/13



Before
2008 / 11 / 11
After
2010 / 4 / 1

Before 2007/6/19 → After 2009/6/17

Before 2007/ 5/27 → After 2009/ 6/12



Before
2007. 10.2
After
2010. 2.19

Before
2008/4/4
After
2010/7/13

Before
2008/2/16
After
2010/6/19

Before
2007 / 12/13
After
2010 / 4/21